Possibility of Whitewash For Shearer Vanishes When President Speaks

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(UP)—The senate today adopted the Borah resolution authorizing an investigation on the activities of the American shipbuilding companies at the Geneva preparatory disarmament conference in 1927.

Possibility of a whitewash senatorial investigation of the Shearership builders, propaganda for a big navy dimmed today when it became known President Hoover had some ideas which are expected to guide the committee in going to the bottom of the affair.

As outlined to the United Press, the administration hopes the committee will select a hard hitting counsel from the staff of the department of justice and then compose itself more as a jury than as an inquisitorial body while the counsel goes after the facts.

The senate today adopted the resolution authorizing the naval committee to investigate. Before witnesses are called, the committee is expected to provide itself with all information regarding William B. Shearer and the Brown-Boveri Co., the Bethlehem Ship Building Co., and the Newport News Ship and Drydock company against which President Hoover has complained.

One of the reasons outside, full-time counsel is suggested for the committee is that Mr. Hoover's advisers do not want any legalistic

Rich Hotel Man, Jailed for Assault, Contesting Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Charging that his wife was guilty of misconduct, Walter J. Sutcliffe, wealthy hotel man in jail in San Francisco, today contested Mrs. Pearl Sutcliffe's suit for divorce.

Sutcliffe is serving a three-year sentence for stabbing Carl Bengtson, a young musician he found in a hotel room with his wife. The musician was named in Sutcliffe's answer filed in superior court.

Simultaneously, District Attorney Burton Flitt announced that Richard Wheeler and Patrick Mullin, held here in connection with an asserted plot of Sutcliffe to hire them to slay his wife, had been released.

Fits declared there was insufficient evidence to warrant the issuance of complaints.

Corroborates Testimony of Others in Murder Case In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Additional testimony to the effect that Mrs. Lois Pantages was driving in a wild manner just before her automobile struck and fatally injured Juro Rukumoto, Japanese, was introduced by the state at her trial for his murder today.

Harry D. Mason, an eye-witness to the crash, told the jury that Mrs. Pantages' car scraped the fenders of one in which he was riding, failed to stop and then went on to hit Rukumoto's small machine.

His testimony corroborated in every detail that given yesterday by Cyril T. Holmes who was riding with Mason.

The cross-examination of Mason took up the entire morning session. He was questioned minutely on each point of his testimony and the questioning frequently led to bickering between attorneys.

The state objected that Max Steuer, prominent New York attorney, associated with the defense, was asking questions of no moment while Steuer objected to the state starting arguments over the nature of the questions.

Mason was followed to the stand by his father, J. F. Mason, who also was riding with Holmes. He confirmed the testimony given by the other two and to the effect that Mrs. Pantages was driving her machine on an erratic path through traffic until it finally crashed against Rukumoto's car.

Mrs. Pantages was on the wrong side of the street, the elder Mason said.

The collision threw Mrs. Pantages' car against the left hand curb, he said, while Rukumoto's family was thrown into the street and Rukumoto, himself, was pinned under the wreckage.

For the purpose of speeding the trial, Judge Carlos Hardy, ordered that all morning sessions of court open one hour earlier and all afternoon sessions one-half an hour later.

The state probably will not close its case for two or three days, since a number of eye-witnesses, police officers and ambulance drivers, still are to be called.

LABOR AGENTS OPEN MONEY THEFT QUIZ

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Charges of Count Schotfus, alleged Russian noble, that California prison officials stole money from him, are being investigated by California agents of the labor department's immigration bureau.

Schotfus, now awaiting deportation at Ellis Island, made the charge in asking for a stay of the deportation order issued against him as an undesirable alien. The department ordered its San Francisco agent to look into the matter.

Passengers Take To Lifeboats When Ship Strikes Rock

PORLAND, Me., Sept. 11.—(UP)—Twenty persons, including several women and children, were safely ashore today after a transfer to lifeboats when the U. S. S. General Robert M. Bachelder, an excursion craft, ran on the rock at the entrance to Portland harbor.

The Bachelder struck the rock on losing her bearings in a heavy fog while enroute from Fort McKinley to Fort Leavitt.

Affidavits Printed On Page Five

Full text of all affidavits filed with the county board of supervisors, supporting charges made by The Register, following an extensive investigation, against Charles Carrillo, will be found on page 5 of this edition. Seven affidavits are printed in full. There are four other affidavits supporting the seven, that are not being printed simply because they are repetitions.

Nancy Lee and Janice Hill Charged With Possession of Liquor

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11.—(UP)—An information charging them with possession of liquor was filed by the district attorney's office today against Nancy Lee, 25, sculptress, and Janice Hill, her sister, declared by the district attorney's office to have attempted to tamper with witnesses in the Alexander Pantages assault case.

The liquor angle was introduced when Miss Lee allegedly threw a bottle of absinthe from a window of her apartment as investigators from the district attorney's office entered.

NEW SPEED TRIALS SLATED FOR TODAY

CALSHOT, England, Sept. 11.—(UP)—New trials were scheduled today in an attempt to better the sensational speed record achieved yesterday by Squadron Leader A. H. Orlebar, captain of the British Schneider cup team.

Flying over a three kilometre course Orlebar yesterday established a new world's speed record of 355.8 miles an hour, thereby beating the record made earlier in the day by his teammate, Flight Lieut. G. H. Stainforth, who averaged 336.2 miles an hour over the same three kilometre course.

The reason for the phenomenon, according to Kelly, is the influence of the sun and moon on the waters is almost equally opposite the sun being near the autumn equinox and the moon in the first quarter off quadrature.

DEVELOPMENTS SHOW BAILEY ASKED OPINION FROM WATER COMPANY BEFORE REPORTING

Retracting nothing in substance from his original letter, Chas. L. Hansen, a director of the Anaheim Union Water Company, today in a letter to Stuart H. Lucas of the Water Users Association, further established the fact that Flood Engineer Paul Bailey and his associates came to the water company for advice prior to filing their report.

Following publication of Mr. Hansen's original letter several papers in the county printed denials from Mr. Hansen. His letter to Mr. Lucas and the latter's reply to Hansen follow:

TARIFF BILL IS CROWDED OUT BY VARE CASE

Survey Shows Senate 3 to 1 Against Seating Solon Of Pennsylvania

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(UP)—The Vare case crowded the tariff bill from the Senate stage today when the same forces opposing each other in the tariff debate, lined up to decide whether Senator-elect Vare of Pennsylvania should be officially ousted now, or whether the Senate should wait until December to do it.

A survey of the situation indicated the Senate was 3 to 1 against Vare being seated either now or in December, but there was a closer division on the point whether the vote should be taken at this time.

Republican floor leader Watson claimed he had a majority for delay when the Senate adjourned late yesterday, but he was doubtful whether he could maintain his majority today. The opposition forces claimed they had a majority ready for an immediate vote on the Vare case yesterday and will press it today. Their claims appeared to be substantiated by impartial authorities.

"There is no reason why we should wait longer," said Senator Norris, Repub., Neb., author of the resolution to deny Vare his seat because he spent $800,000 in his primary election.

"The case is more than three years old. The facts are not controverted. The facts indicate Mr. Vare is not ill and if he is it would not alter the necessity for disposing of

ONE TIDE SCHEDULED IN SOUTHLAND TODAY

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Southern California's coast line will experience but one tide today instead of the customary four, according to Maurice Kelly, of the local branch of the United States navy hydrographic station.

Kelly said that the one tide will occur about 3:24 p. m. and will be a high tide of 4.4 feet. There will be no other material change, until shortly after midnight, when an ebb tide of 1.1 feet below mean low water will be registered.

The reason for the phenomenon, according to Kelly, is the influence of the sun and moon on the waters is almost equally opposite the sun being near the autumn equinox and the moon in the first quarter off quadrature.

STATE READY TO FILE GAS SUITS

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Injunction suits against operators in the Santa Fe Springs oil fields district charging them with unreasonable waste of natural gas will be filed this afternoon following the arrival of additional papers from Sacramento, according to James S. Bennett, attorney representing the directors of state natural resources.

Bennett refused to state what companies and independent operators would be named in the injunction suits as he said that some change might be made at the last minute. Important companies with holdings in the Santa Fe Springs district are the Standard Oil, Union Oil, Texas company, Shell Oil, Richfield Oil, General Petroleum corporation, George F. Getty, Inc., Associated Oil, Superior Oil, Bandini Petroleum corporation, MacMillan Oil, St. Helens Petroleum company, Rhodes and MacAdams, Universal Consolidated Oil company and many independent operators.

Jurors Spend Five Hours In Deliberation

Two Ballots Taken on One and 10 or 12 on Other Reports Declare

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(UP)—The Vare case crowded the tariff bill from the Senate stage today when the same forces opposing each other in the tariff debate, lined up to decide whether Senator-elect Vare of Pennsylvania should be officially ousted now, or whether the Senate should wait until December to do it.

A survey of the situation indicated the Senate was 3 to 1 against Vare being seated either now or in December, but there was a closer division on the point whether the vote should be taken at this time.

The jury, after taking two ballots on Slater and 10 or 12 on Vare, decided that the evidence against them was not sufficient to warrant their being branded as murderers.

The case was entrusted to the jury by Superior Judge E. J. Marks, at 4:18 p. m., yesterday and under Foreman E. J. Brown, of Orange, deliberated and voted until 9:27 p. m., when it filed back into the jury box and announced its verdict.

After retiring to the jury room the men and women who held the two youths' lives in their hands first took up the case of Slater.

The first ballot was 11 to one for acquittal. The second ballot cleared Slater of guilt in connection with the death of Kirk.

Slater alone remained as a possible guilty participant in the affair.

The jury balanced on him and the first vote was eight to four in favor of freeing the youth.

The jury then continued its work until 9:27 p. m., when the straight acquittal vote was reached on about the twelfth ballot.

Kirk met his death on the highway after a reported fracas near his parked car and another automobile in which Slater and Nava were alleged to have been riding.

Passing motorists are reported to have seen a fight between two figures at this spot. After stopping and returning to the scene, they found the body of Kirk on the running board of his car, covered with blood.

Slater and Nava were arrested the same night after Sheriff Sam Jernigan had started an investigation of the affair.

They are said to have asserted that they drove toward Newport Beach and later returned to Long Beach by a roundabout route.

The two youths were defended by A. P. Nelson, Kenneth Burns and Raymond Ray, Santa Ana attorneys. The prosecution was handled by District Attorney Z. B. West Jr. and Deputy District Attorney S. B. Kaufman.

"That's fine," Donald Barthet, assistant general manager, said.

"As a matter of fact our attitude all along has been we would release all findings in the investigation, no matter what federal authorities decided to do."

"That's fine," Donald Barthet, assistant general manager, said.

BURKE ASKS SUSPENSION OF CARRILLO DURING PROBE

Following the formal presentation of charges against Charles Carrillo, court interpreter, The Register yesterday filed with the board of supervisors the affidavits on which the accusations were based. Accompanying the affidavits was the following letter from J. Frank Burke, editor of The Register, which was read to the board:

September 10, 1929.

To the Board of Supervisors of Orange County, Santa Ana California. Attention: County Clerk.

Gentlemen:

It was with surprise and keen disappointment that I learned that you took no action on the Carrillo matter other than to refer it to another official without suggestion or advice.

I had instructed our attorney, W. M. Burke, not to turn over the affidavits supporting the charges against Carrillo unless he was suspended from office during the investigation. I did this because we have learned in the investigation thus far that Carrillo uses the power of his office to intimidate the Mexicans with whom he deals, and I know the danger of his unduly using his power if you retain him in his position, when he has access to the affidavits.

However, I have concluded that my first obligation is to the people as a publisher to give them the facts, and you as the employer of this man can retain him in office or do as you please. I am handing you herewith copies of affidavits, the originals of which are in our possession, and which we now feel free to publish.

As a citizen, a taxpayer, a publisher, and one interested in justice, I respectfully request that you protect the poor Mexicans in our county from such machinations, and that if you need further investigation than this evidence, that you at least suspend this man pending such investigation, so that freedom may be given the Mexican population to speak without the fear of his using his power against them.

Surely there is no need of legal advice to know in the light of these affidavits that this man should not continue to hold his position of trust and power during the period of the investigation, if you choose to have one.

In any case, I have concluded that you as his employer are responsible for him. I am only responsible for the presentation of the facts, and to suggest as I have, the protection that should be afforded the people.

ious accusations.

After the brief executive session the board announced that, on the advice of the district attorney, Carrillo would be notified of yesterday's developments. The board set next Tuesday at 2 p.m. as the time at which Carrillo will be told that the seven charges have been made against him and that affidavits supporting the charges have been filed with the board of supervisors.

Carrillo did not appear in the board room when the charges were read yesterday by W. Maxwell Burke, attorney for The Register. Carrillo was not present during the reading of the affidavits at the afternoon session.

In making its charges against Carrillo and in presenting the affidavits supporting the charges, The Register submitted that the charges and the affidavits were sufficient to warrant the calling of a hearing in the matter or the launching of an investigation to determine whether Carrillo was a fit man to be retained in his present office. Such an investigation has not been announced and no hearing, other than that at which Carrillo will be notified of the charges, has been called.

Consul F. A. Pesqueira, of Los Angeles, spent yesterday in Orange county investigating the Carrillo matter and interviewing Mexican people in regard to their dealings with the interpreter. He has co-operated with The Register in its investigation and has requested the Mexican Honorary commission here to work with this newspaper in carrying on its phase of the affair.

ATTORNEY TO MARRY

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Janet Gaynor, 22-year-old motion picture actress of "Seven Heaven" fame, and Lydell Peck, 30, son of a prominent San Francisco attorney, are to be married today. It is understood.

The couple obtained a marriage license yesterday but would make no definite statement as to when the wedding bells would chime. Janet's mother, however, said that the ceremony would take place today.

While the couple prepared for the wedding, Janet's teammate in the motion picture realm, Charles Farrel, left for the east—heart-sick, it is believed.

Vegetable Crop In Valley Threatened
By Labor Shortage

EL CENTRO, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Shortage of Mexican labor due to asserted drastic deportation measures employed by the United States immigration bureau threatens the vegetable crops of the Imperial valley, it was declared here today in a resolution passed by the directors of the Imperial Irrigation district.

The resolution held that "unless there is some effective action taken soon, Imperial valley, heavily dependent upon Mexican labor for harvesting its vegetable crops, will suffer seriously this winter."

Copies were sent to United States Senator Hiram Johnson and Congressman Phil D. Swing, asking an investigation of the situation.

apses which might provide techniques under which either the companies or Shearer could escape prosecution if such seems warranted.

High officers of the navy are involved in any irregular practices they will be sacrificed without hesitation, the United Press understands. Suspicion does not now point to any officer but in the thorough investigation demanded by Mr. Hoover it is recognized that one or two may prove to have been overly enthusiastic. The feeling at the White House, however, is that the best opinion in the service is behind the drive against naval propaganda of the sort charged against Shearer.

Whether Mr. Hoover's ideas as to procedure are accepted by the committee remains to be seen. There has been no evidence of enthusiasm among some members of the naval affairs committee. It is remarked that the investigation resolution comes from Senator Borah, who is not a member of the committee, rather than from Chairman Hale or one of his committee colleagues. Borah probably will resume his role of administration champion in an effort to provide the relentless investigation desired by Mr. Hoover.

Members of the family will go to National City this afternoon to return the veteran to Santa Ana.

Mrs. Caldwell was of the opinion that the aged man left Santa Ana intending to go to Columbus, O., where he has several sons.

On one occasion last spring, Caldwell recently left Santa Ana without notifying members of his family and was found in Missouri. He has had a habit of running away from home for several years, according to Mrs. Caldwell.

Since his return to Santa Ana from Missouri, his health has not been good and when he disappeared this time, members of the family were anxious regarding his safety. Police throughout Southern California had been searching for him for several days.

Mr. Bailey called at our office several times in the past eighteen months. He at all times knew that our board would not stand for the upper site.

It might be that one of the reasons that the lower site was chosen.

Ask Mr. Bailey he "might" tell you.

Very truly yours,

CHAS L. HANSEN.

Corona Del Mar, Sept. 10, 1929.

My Dear Mr. Hansen:

Your very welcome letter received this morning, I had noticed that the articles and some of the editorials that appeared in certain papers bore a similarity of style that stamped them as coming from a common source; but be that as it may I will send this letter of yours to the same papers that received the other, as per your phone request.

The reason of publishing your letter was not to cast any aspersions on Mr. Hale or your honorable board, but to prove my contention that the "reasons why the upper site could not be used" were not "engineering ones," and that the engineers were advising with others and particularly the Anaheim Union Water Company, which fact has been repeatedly denied.

The further fact that Mr. Bailey was a regular visitor at the office of the Anaheim Union Water Company, with full knowledge as to the attitude of your board, is additional light on this particular visit and his questions to your board as to your approval before he had made his report.

The slight personal contact that I have had with Mr. Hale has been pleasant, and to my mind the present development that Orange County enjoys has been brought about largely through the efforts of the several water companies. I do not blame him at all. He has been consistent at all times, and perfectly in the open for the lower site.

To my way of thinking, the use of the upper site would be more favorable to your company than the lower, but of course I have not the data available that you possess. It is a certainty that the coast section could never support the lower site, as they are principally interested "in the water that comes out of a faucet."

Hoping that some method may be devised, whereby an additional supply of water may be obtained at a cost commensurate with the benefits derived, I hope to always remain

Your friend,

STUART H. LUCAS.

FIND AGED S. A. MAN. MISSING FOR SIX DAYS

Hugh W. Caldwell, 81-year-old Civil war veteran, who disappeared from his home, at 618 McFadden street, last Thursday morning, was located this morning in National City, south of San Diego, according to Mrs. Caldwell, who received a letter from a woman in that city stating that Caldwell was there.

Members of the family will go to National City this afternoon to return the veteran to Santa Ana.

Mrs. Caldwell was of the opinion that the aged man left Santa Ana intending to go to Columbus, O., where he has several sons.

On one occasion last spring, Caldwell recently left Santa Ana without notifying members of his family and was found in Missouri. He has had a habit of running away from home for several years, according to Mrs. Caldwell.

FOX COMPANY BUYS 2 IDAHO THEATERS

FERGUS FALLS, Minn., Sept. 11.—(UP)—The body of a man believed to be the Rev. O. J. Kyale, United States representative in congress from the seventh Minnesota congressional district, was recovered today from the smoldering ruins of a summer cottage at Otter Trail lake, 30 miles from here.

Congressman Kyale visited Fergus Falls late Tuesday and was known to have left alone for the family summer home. Relatives and friends of the representative were immediately summoned here from his home at Benson, Minn., to attempt to identify the body.

Rumors of the transaction have prevailed for weeks, and William Stege, representative of the Fox interests, has been here for the past three days in connection with the purchase. The amount involved is not known.

Dado Winner Over Peters At Olympic

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11.—"Speedy" Dado, the Filipino youngster, took another step toward his goal—the flyweight championship—last night when he defeated Ernie Peters of Chicago in a 10-round bout at the Olympic.

The battle was the second staged by the pair in the Olympic ring and Dado, a much improved fighter, piled up a healthy margin to wipe out a draw with Peters in the first meeting.

The Chicago fighter was down for the count of eight after taking a hard right to the jaw in the second round, but returned to his feet with such a vicious attack that the battle was one of the fastest seen at the Olympic for some time.

Dado was credited with all but one round.

10 WOMEN ON JURY DECIDING ACCIDENT CASE

Ten women and two men were selected today as a jury to hear evidence in a $55,100 damage suit in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court, in which Lee Omar Curry and Ruthie Curry, La Habra, are seeking judgment against Edgar P. Williams, of Anaheim. The case is based on an automobile accident, near Deming, N. M., in which the plaintiffs claimed to have been injured while riding in Williams' car.

Not only is their loyalty to Vare the occasion of comment in view of this fact, but also when it is considered their friend Gov. Fisher of Pennsylvania will be empowered to appoint in Vare's place some senator more friendly to them as soon as the senate acts.

They are making an effort to delay the issue until they can get a report from the Waterman committee on the election contest brought by William B. Wilson, Democrat, for Vare's seat. They believe this report will enable them to refute some of the present charges against Vare, although it is conceded the Wilson contest has nothing to do with the Vare seating case which involves only Vare's activities in his primary election.

EQUAL WATER RIGHTS SOUGHT BY MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Mexico asks only reciprocity and equal rights from the United States in the settlement of the water power problem, the newspaper Excelsior said today in commenting on the closing of the session of the international water commission, which convened here to confer with the Rio Grande and Colorado rivers control.

"We are not requesting favors or concessions," the newspaper said. "Neither do we wish to violate legitimate privileges."

The editorial mentioned certain complaints from Mexican chambers of commerce that despite the witnesses who will appear for the state when Pantages goes to trial for an alleged assault upon Unice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer.

The request of the Salvation Army for a new meeting place for street services, filed last week, was referred back to a committee composed of Councilman W. J. Kelly and Chief L. C. Rogers. Decision was made not to permit services to be held on Fourth street and the committee was instructed to work out with Salvation Army officials a satisfactory meeting place.

No action was taken on the request of the American Legion Auxiliary Glee club for a donation to its fund for expenses to the national convention.

CHLORINATOR BIDS OPENED BY COUNCIL

Bids for the new chlorinator to be used in connection with the outfall sewer system by the city of Santa Ana were opened at the council meeting last night.

Every city in the county connected with the outfall sewer has taken action to provide chlorinators for the elimination of certain objectionable features, according to City Purchasing Agent L. M. Banks. Other cities that are installing the chlorinator tanks are La Habra, Buena Park, Placentia, Fullerton, Anaheim, Orange and Garden Grove.

Bids last night were submitted by the Wallace Tierman company, at $1782, and the Chemical Equipment company, at $1495. The bids were referred to the purchasing agent for checking and he will report back to the council.

East Side Well Started By Camp

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 11.—The Camp Oil company spudded in on the W. T. Newland farm on the east side Tuesday afternoon. The well will offset the Standard Oil company Thompson lease, which has been producing oil for seven years. Charles W. Camp of the Camp Oil company stated that the plans of the company included a thorough test of the area.

A contributory plan that will enable city employees to secure additional group insurance was presented to the council last night by George E. Faires, agent of the Missouri State Life Insurance company, who handles the group insurance now in force that carries $500 for each employee.

Under the present plan the city pays a total of $365 per year and provides $63,500 insurance on the lives of 127 city employees. The addition insurance, which, Faires said, has been asked by a number of the city workers, provides under the plan submitted for an additional $1000 for each employee and would be paid for jointly by the city and the insured employee, with each employee availing himself of the opportunity to secure the additional insurance by paying 60 cents per month and the city the balance.

The present policy has been in effect for about five years, during which time some five or six losses have been paid, according to the information brought out at the meeting.

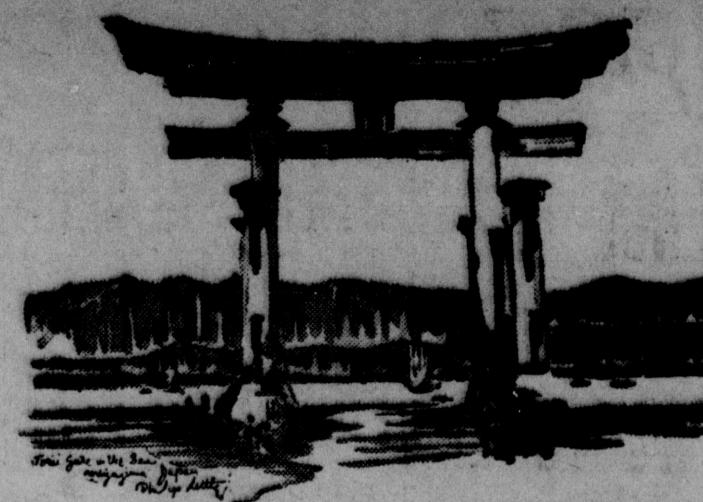

The council deferred action on the proposal and plans to discuss it at the next finance meeting.

S. A. Application For Boulder Dam Power Is On File

The application of the city of Santa Ana for 10,000 horsepower from Boulder dam was acknowledged by the federal government in a letter read to the council last night.

The communication acknowledging the receipt of the application for a share in the distribution of the power to be produced was directed to Charles Swanner, city attorney, who, as a result of council action, forwarded the request to the department of the interior.

Assurance was made that, although Secretary Wilbur was at present out of the office on an inspection trip through the west, the application would be properly filed and would receive due consideration.

Affidavits Charge Carrillo Sold His Good Offices

EVIDENCE PUT BEFORE BOARD BY REGISTER

Printed herewith below are seven affidavits filed with the county board of supervisors yesterday by The Register, supporting charges that Charles Carrillo, court interpreter, was selling his influence and good offices. The affidavits were accompanied by a letter from J. Frank Burke, publisher, requesting the suspension of Carrillo from office pending a thorough investigation of his activities among his fellow countrymen. The board, after a session behind closed doors, failed to suspend Carrillo and instead, ordered his appearance before the board at 2 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon to be notified that charges had been preferred against him.

Intimidation, extortion and attempted extortion, selling supposed influence with peace officers and courts, collecting money for gaining permission to visit inmates of the county jail, receiving money for purported instruments alleged to make it possible for unqualified Mexican citizens to enter the United States—all this and more is revealed in the affidavits collected by the Register, which it is giving to the public of Orange county that the people may know the foundation of the seven charges which this newspaper has brought against Charles Carrillo, court interpreter, in a formal complaint filed with the board of supervisors yesterday.

The Register has other affidavits, supporting some of those published today, which it has given to the board of supervisors but which it is not publishing.

The affidavits follow:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
COUNTY OF ORANGE:
Mrs. Olive Johnston, after first being duly sworn on oath, deposes and says:

That on or about the beginning of the summer of 1926 I was in the Orange county jail, charged with disturbing the peace. That on the day following my arrest Charles E. Carrillo, court interpreter of Orange county, came to see me in the said jail. That the said Carrillo came to the place where I was asked to see the paper which the jailer had given me. As soon as I showed him the said paper, the said Carrillo said to me that I had a bad case. That Carrillo told me that I ought to plead guilty to the charge and that if I did not plead guilty that I would be in jail for about four months. Carrillo told me that if I pleaded guilty I probably would get out of jail right away, but that the most I would get would be a fine of $10 (ten dollars) or $15 (fifteen dollars). That I did not tell Carrillo whether I would plead guilty or not. That Carrillo stepped out and that a few moments later the jailer or some other officer took me to the court.

That in the court Carrillo read a paper to me but that he read the said paper so fast that I could not understand it. That the judge then told Carrillo to ask me whether I would plead guilty or not. That Carrillo asked me if I wished to plead guilty and that I then said "Yes." That I then was sentenced to four months in the Orange county jail.

That three or four days after I got out of jail my wife told me, when I came home from work, that Carrillo had been to my house that day and had told her to ask me if I was glad I was out of jail. That a few days later Carrillo wrote me a letter telling me to come to his office about a matter that would be for my own good. That I did not go because I did not have any clothes to wear and because I thought that it was not anything important. That a few days later my brother told me that Carrillo had come to his, my brother's house and had told my brother to tell me that if I did not come to the said Carrillo's office that the said Carrillo would send a policeman to get me. That I

But then Mr. Lacy told me that it was too late, that he couldn't do anything for me. He told me that I ought to have come to see him before they had the account at this office. Vandermast Officials In Business Many Years

S. A. CONCERN EMPLOYED FOR BUILDING WORK

General confidence in the future of Santa Ana and a background of many years' progress are responsible for the fact that a men's apparel establishment has become associated with the Affiliated Clothiers, Inc., of the United States. Vandermast and Son, Inc., a firm of repute throughout the Southwest and in business here for the last 26 years, will move into its new location tomorrow in the Moore building, at Broadway and Fourth street.

The merchandising instinct which led Asa Vandermast through 14 years of clerking in a men's wearing apparel store as a young man and through 43 years in development of his own establishment, is largely responsible for the substantial background that the new store has today. Because he desired to perpetuate the name of Vandermast, the ambition of his youth and his organizing ability now are realized and recognized.

Officers of the new incorporation declared today that Asa Vandermast will continue to be in evidence in the store.

Store Personnel

The personnel of the present Vandermast and Son, Inc., includes Walker Vandermast, the son; president and treasurer, and Carl Stein, secretary and general manager.

Previous to becoming associated with his father in business in this city, Walter Vandermast worked in the Continental Clothing stores in Monroe and Newton, Iowa. Although he obtained his training at the Capital City Commercial college in Des Moines, he had anticipated entering the men's wearing apparel business since his youth.

"It's been the store for me ever since I was allowed to work on Saturdays and after school," Vandermast asserted. "I just naturally grew up with the idea and the business."

E. T. Mateer became associated with the clothiers because, he said, he had always had an admiration for the clothing business, and had aspired to some day have a connection with such a firm. His friendship with the Vandermasts offered the opportunity as he possessed the desirable location for such an establishment here.

Here Many Years

Mateer has been in the drug business in Santa Ana for the past 18 years and plans to continue to be affiliated with his old concern. However, he volunteers the following statement:

"I believe that the clothing business carries a larger volume of business than the drug business and since my location here justifies it, I will hereafter be actively associated with this new undertaking."

Carl Stein, who was buyer in hats and furnishings and display manager of the old firm for the

FASHION HINTS LETTER TELLS ARE CITED BY ASSOCIATION'S MANAGER STEIN STORE POLICY

Fashion hints for men's shirts were given today by Carl Stein, general manager of Vandermast and Son, Inc.

The white Oxford shirt is suggested for men's sports wear in the coming season in Setter style or Barrymore collar. Both collars are convertible into sport style if desired and are used preferably for tennis or golf dress.

Informal wear will feature the soft collar attached to the shirt with moderate length collar points and held together with the novel bar collar pin. Collar points in this mode of informal wear are shorter than those used in sports wear to be turned back. The starched collar will be worn attached to shirts for informal wear, aside from the soft style.

Fancy short stiff bosom, or starched and pleated fronts with laundered collars to match will furnish the formal touch in men's shirts this season. These are shown in neat patterns and stripes on pastel backgrounds and are exclusively designed and woven by the Eagle shirtmakers.

White background shirts with split cluster stripes and neat figures will be favored by many business men during the coming season, because they can be used with the starched collars to match.

Collars are said to be the most important factor in shirt wearing appearance. Many firms that make high grade shirts do not include collar perfection and most men desire good collar fits. Vandermasts have spent much time in obtaining the handsome shirt lines with correct collar fits as an outstanding feature.

est styles in male apparel far ahead of other local stores.

"This is a new day and a new condition in retailing. The public expects more in service. The trend of the time is toward large activity, large business.

"With that feature plus local ownership of your store, local management and personal service, Vandermast, Inc. should continue to merit the confidence of its public and grow even larger as a result of the unique position it now enjoys with the great group of big stores in back of the organization.

"You are then, because of your affiliation with this great group of stores, in an enviable position to serve the people of Santa Ana and the surrounding territory with the newest style merchandise of recognized standard at the lowest possible prices.

"No single store, however large, can use a sufficient quantity of merchandise in order to consistently obtain the lowest prices. Only huge buying power with its ability to absorb vast quantities of merchandise can command large price concessions from manufacturers.

"Very cordially yours,

ing the master of the household! "In older days men wore shirts and drawers and seemed content with ill fitting and cumbersome underwear. When the old fashioned union suit came in, it was received with enthusiasm by all the men in the west, although those in eastern states and on the Atlantic seaboard were slower than Californians to adopt the new ideas.

The present type of underclothing for men of all ages is found in shirts, unders and shorts. Long legged knit wear has been done away with and silk undies have usurped the kingdom of the union suits. Rayon or lisle shirts, knitted in close fitting style; shorts to fit the waistband with plenty of room; these were turned to as quickly as the old two piece union suit was discarded.

Shirts in plain white or pastel shades, and shorts in colors to harmonize, or in extremely bright patterns are all the rage now. Vandermasts are prepared to meet the tastes of color appetizers, in every new mode.

BOYS' STYLES ARE OUTLINED BY S. A. STORE

Far western cities are the only places where boys under 10 years of age are wearing long trousers. New York and the east have gotten away from the style because it is not practical for the active boy, it was declared today.

This fact was noted when an informant told of the new and complete boys' wear department at the Vandermast, Inc., store. The local store has had to buy long trousers for little boys for the past six years against the wishes of officials who believe that the boy from 2 to 7 years of age should wear English shorts, and that the boy from 7 to 12 years of age would look better in full cut golf pants. From 12 years and up, boys are better supplied with long trousers.

Although the store is merchandising in different styles for boys at this time, it will continue to supply the needs as well as the styles that young folk desire.

For 20 years Vandermasts have offered the KayNee styles to boys of this city and now they have added an entire new range of boys' apparel. Suits with wash tops and wool pants are added to fit children under the KayNee age.

English shorts made of corduroy fabric in bright and deep colors with large plaids; sleeping garments, including the boys' pajamas that are so often sold to girls; ensemble suits with pastel blouses, a type for boys from 3 to 8 years of age; juvenile sweaters in high colors; button-on-blouses in grades that were formerly not carried by the establishment; and values for young boys' wear that will be appreciated by local mothers, are among the features of the department.

In the boys' department, which is located in the downstairs salesroom of the remodeling store, is one highlight of unusual interest. A play room, including sand pile attractions, has been designed by Miss Dorothy Ramsey, 16-year-old daughter of Merle Ramsey, designer of the store's remodeling.

Miss Ramsey is also to display her ideas of the extreme in bathing suits for next year at some time during the coming winter season. She will soon meet a representative of knitting mills here to discuss the bathing costume designs.

BELIEVES DERBY HAT DUE FOR POPULARITY IN S. A.

"Everyone makes fun of it and we don't expect to set the world on fire by introducing it here," declared Walter Vandermast, in speaking of new headwear for young men. "However, the more advanced dresser will wear the derby hat this fall and winter."

In explaining how the styles are spread by football games, Vandermast called to mind the occasion when the University of Stanford sent its football team east to play the Army last year. All of the Stanford football players returned to the west wearing the black derby. The mode has spread since then, he said, to the young men from university to junior college.

The west has always favored wide brimmed hats, while men in last four years, is now to be general manager of the store. He has been in the clothing business for 17 years, coming to Santa Ana from Pomona, where he acted as hat buyer and display manager for John P. Evans. He is a member of the Elk club and the local chamber of commerce.

Store Remodelled

The interior of the store is completely remodelled as designed by the officials of the firm and an able architect. It is considered one of the finest layouts of its kind in this vicinity.

As one enters the store he is greeted by an illuminated haberdashery section. To the right is the shirt section and to the left is the hat department. Five big cabinets are fully stocked with the best quality of modern men's head wear. An immense stock of hats is carried by Vandermast and Son, including the American Stetson, the Italian Borsolini and the American Schobie stock.

Top coats, lounging robes and luggage, together with sports wear are to be found on the mezzanine floor. Here it is noticed that many fine windows open out onto the street, thus furnishing the entire place with daylight. Amber curtains are drawn across the window to prevent the sun's glare entering the building, yet they do not change the light illumination. This factor gives the customer a chance to note the true color of all fabrics.

Many Novelties

Bridge novelties and unique gifts are displayed in a great show case at the entrance of the store. They feature new ideas of smoking stands, table sets and lighters that have been imported from Vienna, Germany and Czechoslovakia.

To the rear is the clothing section with a capacity of about 700 suits. The store specializes in the same Society brand of merchandise that it has handled so successfully for many years. Three dressing rooms adjoin this clothing section, which is carpeted. At either side of the haberdashery department are triangular cases with the triple mirror effect.

All window displays are moderately shallow with a higher base and smaller general appearance built on a plateau interior with bases raised to come nearer the eye level. The fixtures of the store are finished in highly polished American walnut with matched paneling. Wrought iron work is employed throughout the store and the chandeliers are in harmony with the entire decorative scheme.

Floor of Linotile

Linotile flooring is one of the most attractive and unusual features of the place. It is composed of linoleum tiling in grey and green colors, and is furnished by the Van Fleet-Frear company of 3307 Wilshire boulevard, Los Angeles. The linotile is laid by blocks and its pattern is made as the workman chooses to lay it. The pattern on the flooring is said to be similar to that of the Museum of Art at New York and is the only one of its kind in the west.

The front of the downstairs salesroom is devoted to boys' clothing and a playroom with mural decoration and sand pile is an attractive feature. It also contains men's work goods, a loading zone and receiving room, and space for the window trimmer to make his set ups for the display. Air is changed in the basement every 10 minutes by the new ventilating system that is being installed there.

S. A. Firms Employed

All the remodelling done at the store was the accomplishment of local concerns. Those include the following:

Lighting fixtures, Friend Martin Light and Fixture company, 211 North Main street; electric wiring, Gilbert-Weston-Stearns company, Santa Ana; ventilating system installed by the Hill and Son company; cabinet work and fixtures, Santa Ana Cabinet company; linoleum carpet, Chandler Furniture company; window display carpets, Clausen Furniture company, 410 West Fourth street; wrought iron work, Orange Machine works; all sign work, C.W. Rowland, 409 East Fourth street; sign work, Ruf Bellows, 1109 South Barton street; tile work, McCandless Brothers and Benson, 208 Spurgeon street.

Light Weights in Overcoats Found Popular

That men are becoming more style conscious and that women are playing a big part in the purchase of men's apparel was noted today, when information was revealed showing that more women enter the average men's clothing store than men, especially the stores that appeal to the latest modes of the coming winter season.

Buying goods in advance is a gamble on styles, but a discussion with officials of the Vandermast store disclosed some of the latest modes of the coming winter season.

The best judgment in New York announces that men want a Raglan shoulder overcoat with half belts, and Vandermast have plunged on that stock. They have, however, a lot of set-in shoulder coats as well as those with the belt all around.

Overcoats this year are to be camel's hair for men of all ages. They are to be worn extensively during the fall season and are rich looking, soft, luxurious and comfortable for wear. All over the United States men are wearing the California weight and the windows of the east will show this December, overcoats with window cards printed as "California Weights."

It is expected by authorities that the California weight overcoat will be received in preference to the heavy and cumbersome top coats of the past. Subways from warm homes to warm places of business are expected to play an important factor in the east for the popularity of this recent style.

EAGLE SHIRTS TO BE HANDLED IN NEW STORE

STORE MEMBER OF AFFILIATED U. S. CLOTHIERS

Eagle shirts and Mason's Marvels are two of the important clothing features to be handled by Vandermast, Inc. The latter are an ultra line of hand-made handkerchiefs for formal, sport or business wear that have been manufactured in Hollywood for the past five years and have been carried by the local establishment during that time. They are carried by all the exclusive stores throughout the United States.

For over 60 years Eagle shirts have been in the process of perfection and are now considered a ready-to-wear shirt that compares with the finest custom-made garment. Their patterns are exclusive and not to be had in any other make. The fabrics are sturdy and long wearing.

Many large men, who necessarily had shirts made to order, find that they can get a perfect and comfortable fit in an Eagle. The shirts are cut extra large with roomy armholes and plenty of shoulder space. They have an extra button on the front, always one more than most manufacturers consider necessary; and are lock-stitch sewn, a slow, painstaking work, but handsome in finish and endless in service.

Modernists' Artist Is Pleased Here

"I believe I am locating in one of the most beautiful cities in the west," declared Albert H. Jones, display manager of the new Vandermast, Inc., "and those who have contributed to the building of such a community should be justly proud of that which they have accomplished. If my work in this city may contribute in some small degree to the progress of Santa Ana, I will be greatly pleased."

Jones has been a displayman on the Pacific coast for the last 12 years. During this time he has served in the following locations: Display manager with the Rowles Mach company, the largest exclusive men's wear organization of Southern Idaho and Utah, for six years; three years in charge of display work at Bakersfield, Ventura and Santa Paula for a large chain store; and display manager for the Great Eastern company department store of Ventura.

Present day merchandising methods as contrasted with those of past years are brought to public attention by the announcement that Vandermast, Inc., has become a member of the Affiliated Clothiers.

Facts show that where factories can operate at full speed, or a market for a product can be obtained before it is manufactured, there is a great reduction of manufacturing costs.

Pooled buying, or volume buying, has for several years been applied to staple merchandise, even in men's wearing apparel. It has been conjectured, however, that where exclusive and original style entered into apparel the public would have to continue to pay the price for the fulfillment of its special tastes. In other words, no single store, however large, could absorb a sufficient quantity of any style feature to obtain volume price control through quantity absorption.

The Affiliated Clothiers accomplish that very thing, according to statements made by Vandermast today. A corps of expert buyers are located in New York city, the hottest of style productions from London, Paris and all domestic style centers of the world. When these buyers find a promising style success the exact information is at once presented to the Affiliated Clothiers' 160 individually owned stores. Immediately the buying power is multiplied 160-fold and corresponding increased value for the consumer is the result.

LOTT'S DEFEAT FEATURES PLAY FOR NET TITLE

FOREST HILLS, L. I., Sept. 11.—Good tennis in copious quantities was the requisite today of fourth round matches in the men's national singles championships were to rival in interest the 16 third round matches played at the West Side club yesterday.

The spectators gathered to witness another halving of the field, were still engrossed in the details of the unexpected victory of Wilmer Allison over George Lott, the uphill battle of "Big Bill" Tilden to avoid defeat; the surprising defeat of Berkeley Bell by Edward Feibleman and other third round matches of exceptional merit.

Few of those here today were witnesses to Allison's thrilling five set climb to the fourth round yesterday for rain interrupted the match at the start of the fourth set and when play was resumed some 20 minutes later, a majority of the gallery had boarded the train for New York.

Those who did remain, however, saw the fighting Texan, after trailing 5-2 in the final set, rally to win five games in a row from Lott who was seeded second in the tournament and who ranks third internationally.

The final score of the match was 6-2, 6-3, 3-6, 3-6.

Feibleman's victory over Bell was scored on a field court and before a limited gallery but stamped the former Harvard player who faced "Bunny" Austin of Great Britain today as the dark horse of the 1929 championships.

MAP OUT SAINT SCHEDULE Rivers Shades Cobb, Gets Draw

JIMMIE MAKES BEST FIGHT OF BOXING CAREER

A draw decision often is the easiest and safest manner for a boxing referee to eliminate himself from an uncomfortable predicament and Tom Davis, one of California's state athletic commission's employees, must have taken the easy way out here last night.

He called the Jimmie Rivers-Charley Cobb bout a draw at the Orange County Athletic club.

He thought, apparently, that Rivers and Cobb struck approximately the same number of clean blows and did everything else on even terms over a period of eight rounds.

Davis probably thought he was right. It was a close bout, at that, but Rivers had a shade and should have received the decision. Jimmie seems to have his troubles with commission referees who, however, are disinterested parties appointed by the state and usually get in the ring without ever having seen either of the principals before. The management of the club has no choice whatever in the selection of its officials.

Forgets Old Caution

It was a new Jimmie Rivers that came rushing to the wars out of Jack Walker's corner last night. In fine physical condition and obviously determined to square accounts with the rugged young towhead Cobb, who beat him decisively only a month ago, Rivers put up the best fight of his checkered career. Into the limbo Rivers cast his old caution, his fault of hanging on, and like an inspired youngster plunged recklessly into the going.

He won the first round with plenty to spare, beating Cobb to the punch with surprising regularity. It is not often that Cobb breaks ground but he did in the second round and he did in the second and he did in the third. They were all Rivers rounds, the first two by wide margins.

The surprised Cobb, finding he was not up against the timid, defensive fighter Rivers was on the night of August 13, was angry by this time and he came out of his corner for the fourth anxious for action. In a furious exchange of punches the Texan had an edge, and forced Rivers on the defensive for the first time. The Shells won the first half.

The Courthouse outfit the Royal Dutchmen and enjoyed a 5 to 5 tie until the last inning when Golden weakened momentarily and yielded the three winning runs. Peak was safe on an error at first base to start proceedings. Jones forced him at second but Dorman singled and Burkett came through with a home run that scored all concerned.

Dorman's pass, a wild pitch and Burkett's single gave the Dutchmen one in the first. Sturzenger opened the second canto with a homer, and the Shells picked up a couple more when Roehm walked. Peak doubled and Dorman singled.

The Parliamentarians got two of their back in their half, Clark blasting a home run with Spicer aboard. Yoder's single, Golden's fielder's choice, Cannon's single and Miller's sacrifice fly added another to the Courthouse total in the third.

Sturzenger's triple and an infield out put the Shells 5 to 3 ahead in the fourth, but the Courthouse tied it up in the sixth on Cannon's single, two infielders' choices, Spicer's sacrifice fly and an error.

a swift round with Cobb winning decisively.

Rivers Scores With Lefts

But Rivers' early spurt was not just a gesture. The Indian forced the going again in the fifth, scoring with beautiful left jabs time and again, and winning the round, giving him a 4 to 1 margin. By this time, Jimmie appeared to be an easy winner. He was getting the better of Cobb in almost every exchange and was doing more than his share of the leading.

Cobb came fast in the last three rounds while Rivers appeared to tire from setting the pace. Charley won the sixth by a shade, broke even in the seventh and carried the eighth and last by a mile, catching the eye of Davis and many of the ringsiders for a draw.

Jimmie usually is too crafty to let an opponent outwit him in the last round of any fight but Cobb had him on the run at the finish but he hardly had overcome Jimmie's big advantage in the first five chapters.

It was announced from the ringside that Joe Reese had taken a runoff powder on his scheduled semi-final with Al Truiemans, for

Bears May Play Navy On Grid Next Year

BALTIMORE, Sept. 11.—A football game between the Navy and California, to be played at the stadium here in 1930 is the desire of U. S. Naval academy athletic authorities. Commander Jonas Ingram, athletic director, said at a luncheon given for local newspapermen by the Naval Academy Athletic association.

Commander Ingram, in reviewing Navy football contests here within the last few years, said he had hopes of bringing the famous Bears of California here next year as the Middle's major contest in Baltimore.

He called the Jimmie Rivers-Charley Cobb bout a draw at the Orange County Athletic club.

a swift round with Cobb winning decisively.

Rivers Scores With Lefts

But Rivers' early spurt was not just a gesture. The Indian forced the going again in the fifth, scoring with beautiful left jabs time and again, and winning the round, giving him a 4 to 1 margin. By this time, Jimmie appeared to be an easy winner. He was getting the better of Cobb in almost every exchange and was doing more than his share of the leading.

Cobb came fast in the last three rounds while Rivers appeared to tire from setting the pace. Charley won the sixth by a shade, broke even in the seventh and carried the eighth and last by a mile, catching the eye of Davis and many of the ringsiders for a draw.

Jimmie usually is too crafty to let an opponent outwit him in the last round of any fight but Cobb had him on the run at the finish but he hardly had overcome Jimmie's big advantage in the first five chapters.

It was announced from the ringside that Joe Reese had taken a runoff powder on his scheduled semi-final with Al Truiemans, for

RIVERSIDE AND LONG BEACH TO PLAY IN S. A?

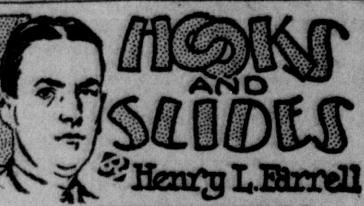

NIGHT baseball's "little world series" between Long Beach and Riverside may be finished in the Santa Ana Bowl, a neutral playing field and the finest park of its kind in Southern California.

This was indicated today after Long Beach squared the series at one game to one by defeating Riverside, 3 to 0, at Riverside last night.

More than a thousand fans stormed the gates of Hunt's stadium in Riverside unable to see the contest because of a limited seating capacity. More than 1500, occupying every possible vantage point, saw Long Beach win in the seventh inning by bunting hits on "Silent Jim" Duncan, Riverside's ace moundsman. Bobby Dalton worked for the Acorns and was invincible in the last five innings after pulling out of hole after hole in the early rounds.

Noel started the Long Beach rally with a double which hit an illumination wire. When Ballard followed with a line single to left, Noel turned third and started for home. Bacon's throw to the plate had him trapped and Noel started back to third. Catcher Zilkratzh,

The curtain of the past were parted, disclosing a picture sacred to memory when red-headed Maurice E. McLoughlin, the old Comet of the Courts, took his driver in hand and teed up in the qualifying round at Pebble Beach the other day.

The darting, dashing dervish of the courts, sweeping all opposition from his path by the fury of his attack; fighting, slashing, charging old Red Mac—and now he's chipping, putting, deliberating, hesitating. How has Red Mac the Mighty fallen!

player and manager in the old league will tell you .350 is more like his gait.

Injuries have played a part in keeping Cuyler from the dizzy heights of stardom. Several times in his past, just when he had struck his stride, he was laid up by a chance-taking slide or a collision with a well in pursuing a drive from the enemy's bat.

In 1927, his last year with the Pirates, Cuyler started the season with a rush. He batted viciously and ran bases at a furious pace. But bad luck stepped in and benched Cuyler with an injured leg. When he came back to the lineup in a somewhat weakened condition, naturally Donnie Bush, the Buccaneer pilot, had someone else in Cuyler's old batting position.

Dropped In Batting Order

Kiki was inserted farther down in the batting order until he could regain his full strength. Cuyler couldn't understand this. His ambitious spirit resented it. They say he sulked. But it is more probable that it was his sensitiveness that brought about his unhappy standing with the Pirates. Cuyler is not the sulking type.

Ask Joe McCarthy, manager of the Cubs, about Kiki.

"There never was a more valuable team player in baseball," is the way McCarthy sizes him up. "A trouble maker?" He gives the pitchers in this league all the trouble they want. We'd like to have a lot more trouble makers like Cuyler."

This has been one of Cuyler's most successful seasons in the big leagues. The world series will be come as a fitting climax to his work of this year.

He is batting over the .350 mark and leads the league with 33 stolen bases. Evar Swanson, highly touted speed merchant of the Reds, of whose base stealing you have been reading all summer, has .27. Cuyler's work in the field has kept pace with his offensive offerings. He has one of the best throwing arms in baseball and he knows how to use it.

tive elevens from the newly organized Foothill league. Whittier formerly was a member of the Coast Preparatory league.

Coach Oliver is anxious to schedule Fullerton but the Indians have a full calendar until December 7. They have agreed to meet Santa Ana on that date unless one or both of the teams happen to be eligible for the Southern California championship playoffs which will be rescheduled this season.

Thirty-five football players, all fighting to land berth on the 1929 edition of the Santa Ana high school squad, turned out yesterday for the first real practice of the year on Poly field under the watchful eyes of Coaches "Tex" Oliver and Bill Foote.

The main part of the session was devoted to fundamentals. After that, Oliver lined up two teams and ran through several plays to be used this season. The lineups, of course, did not represent the true strength or caliber of the probable varsity, but looked fairly imposing for this early in the season.

The offensive squad had Al Rebolin, Lloyd Nuzum and Jack Fredericks, all players of experience, in the backfield. Other backs available were Harold Pangie, Norman Paul, Don Crumley, Jim Daneri, Harmon Howard, and Doyle Gilbert.

In the line, Max Stull and Gib Meisinger were on the ends. Glenn Hartman and John Jamison at tackles, Captain Bruce Tarver and Lee Hoffmaster at guards and Marvin Johnston at center. Opposite them were Floyd and Fayette Blower, ends; T. J. Poe and Roscoe Morris, tackles; Lawrence Lutz and Francis Hall, guards, and Roy Harvey, center.

A tough race for the tackle jobs is already assured with much players as Hartman, Poe, Morris, Clayton and Jamison in the field. Hartman, a substitute for two years, appears to be the best of the lot. Clayton, another big fellow, stands a good chance. Morris is a scrapper and Poe, a newcomer, appears impressive. As for ends, Meisinger and Stull are quite good, although "Toy" Blower, sophomore from Willard junior high, will give them a race. His brother, Fayette, has had experience, too.

If Johnston can hold down center, Captain Bruce Tarver will be free to play guard, which he would rather do, although he might alternate between the two. Winfield Martin and Harold Long are also out for guard.

The complete list who have suits follows: James Daneri, Francis Hall, Marvin Johnston, Clifford Haskell, John Jamison, James Hall, Winfield Martin, Harold Long, Lawrence Lutz, Lloyd Nuzum, Harry Howard, Jack Fredericks, Kiyoshi Higashi, Hideo Higashi, Roy Harvey, Gib Meisinger, Fayette Blower, Floyd Blower, Doyle Gilbert, Grove

mer Far Western A. U. lightweight titleholder. Eddie Benson substituted for Reese, who probably will draw a long suspension, and took a terrific beating from Truleman in every round but the fifth which was even. Benson had charge but was hardly in Truleman's class.

Cortez Takes Beating

Villa Cortez, a rough looking Filipino, "battled" for Raymond Butler, who claimed a bad hand, in the six-round special. Placencia gave Cortez "the works" in the third, dropping him for two short counts before stowing him away for the count.

Louie Medina outpointed "Chalky" Wright, colored, in a splendid boxing match. It was Medina all the way.

Referee Davis opened as well as closed the show with a mistake. He gave Ned Herman a decision over Nino Perez after Perez had won three of the four rounds by a substantial margin.

Mandell To Seek Title As Welter

By BERT DEMBY

(United Press Staff Correspondent) CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Convinced that he again is his old time self, Lightweight Champion Sammy Mandell is ready to go after bigger things—the principal item in the bigger things being the welterweight championship which Jackie Fields now holds.

Mandell believes he can whip Fields and there is no denying that Sammy certainly is capable of giving Jackie a run for his money. Mandell's jubilant attitude is the result of the fine form he showed in his recent bout with Luis Vicentini, the Chilean. His showing immediately brought about a demand for a bout with Fields. It doubtless would be a great fight and a sell-out here because of the fact that Fields is a local boy and Mandell has a big following.

Both Long Beach and Riverside are anxious to finish the series in Santa Ana after each of the contesting cities have had two games at home.

18 GIRLS NOW SEEK HONOR IN RADIO CONTEST

SHE WANTS RADIO

Hazel Miller LePage, one of the most recent entries in the Majestic popularity contest being conducted through these columns. Well known here as a vocalist, this candidate already has made an excellent showing and is working hard for possession of one of the Majestic radios offered the winners.

Due to the enormous amount of work necessary to gathering, sorting, tabulating and totaling the votes in the Majestic Radio's gigantic popularity contest, the day by day totals, as published by The Register may not tally exactly with those of individual contestants.

The amount of work attendant upon the contest may make it necessary for some votes to be held back. But in any event these will be added to the next totals and in no case will totals be published more than 24 hours after they were voted.

This explanation is presented by The Register in order that all contestants may know that their votes did not go astray and ultimately will be counted.

Tabulation of the standings today gave the following result:

Margaret Young	55,145
Helen Woodfill	45,780
Hazel Miller LePage	36,730
Martha Manning	31,120
Izetta Judd	23,975
Lucille Gisler	23,375
Mary Short	22,940
Ellen Sibley	13,850
Jennie Pespelli	12,445
Evelyn Sharer	12,175
Wilda Rohrer	12,050
Gertrude Scheffer	11,980
Mrs. Ethel Eggleson	11,540
Hazel M. Taylor	10,990
Doris Dolin	10,750
Doris Clark	10,100
Peggy Goodrich	10,000
Dorothy Carter	10,000

Votes are pouring in by the hundreds in every Majestic dealer's store and in the ballot boxes located in the lobbies of the Fox-Walker and Fox-Broadway theater. Virtually every ballot box is filled when tabulators open them each night to begin the counting.

Five hundred votes await every candidate at a Majestic dealer's store. All that is necessary is to call and register name and address. The coupon will be presented and can be filled out and voted immediately. These 500-vote coupons are issued by every Majestic dealer in the city, including the B. J. Chandler Music store, 426 West Fourth street; J. C. Horton Furniture company, 421 North Main street; Shafer's Music house, 415 North Main street; O. S. Peterson company, 423 West Fourth street, and Turner Radio company, 221 West Fourth street.

JACK, ETHEL WILL VISIT SAN DIEGO

San Diego will be visited tonight by Jack and Ethel as they continue along the "Roads to Romance." Broadcasting their adventures through NBC system stations, including KTFI, between 8 and 8:30, the Motormates will dramatize the historic scene in 1842 when Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo sailed first into the emerald bay.

San Diego as it is today will be pictured by Jack and Ethel after their exhilarating drive down the coast and over the picturesque Torrey Pines grade from where they see the shadowy, protective arm of the bay extending far out to sea. Afterward the widely known Pacific Beach and several rendezvous of the early Californians will be visited and described for the radio audience. The climax will come with the Cabrillo episode.

Three new entries, Doris Dolin, Hazel Taylor and Mary Short, had been listed in the Great Majestic Popularity contest. Today, and all are right in the running. That merely goes to show that it isn't yet too late to enter. And that a nomination today may mean a grand prize for a girl who hasn't as yet been entered.

Our attention has been called to the fact that some of the voters are using ballots here which have been distributed in a Long Beach theater or clipped from a Long Beach newspaper. Only ballots distributed in Santa Ana are valid in the Santa Ana Contest, coupons from other cities being thrown out by the official counter. A word to the wise—Should be sufficient.

The subject of today's Majestic Picture study is Hazel Miller LePage, a native daughter of Santa Ana, who, although she has been in the popularity contest only two days, is right up among the leaders in number of ballots—Hazel Miller LePage graduated from the Santa Ana high school in 1923 and worked for five years in the First National bank, where she made a great many acquaintances and friends—She is a popular vocalist, being a member of the Christian church choir and having been heard before numerous service clubs here—She also sings, occasionally, over Radio station KFWB—

M. PALAVICINI IN APPEAL FOR FRIENDLINESS

The picture below shows former President Coolidge and his cabinet on the White House lawn. Back row, left to right: James J. Davis, secretary of labor; Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce; William M. Jardine, secretary of agriculture; Hubert Work, secretary of interior, and Curtis D. Wilbur, secretary of the navy. Seated, left to right: Dwight W. Davis, secretary of war; Frank B. Kellogg, secretary of state; President Coolidge; Andrew Mellon, secretary of treasury; Attorney General John G. Sargent, and Harry S. New, Postmaster General.

An intimate glimpse of sociological conditions in Mexico and an outline of the history of the republic to the south was given to members of the Rotary club and their guests, yesterday, when they were addressed by Senor Manuel Palavicini, of Mexico City, who, accompanied by his charming and beautiful bride, is appearing before a number of Rotary clubs in Southern California in the interests of more friendly relations and a better understanding between his country and the United States. The tour is being made under the auspices of the Pomona Rotary club and Senor Palavicini, who is a member of the Rotary club in Mexico City, was accompanied by Allen Nichols, of the Pomona club. Speaking with a slight accent, but with a splendid grasp and use of the English language, the visitor from Mexico City declared it difficult to try to explain the ideas and ideals of a people in such a short space of time, but that he would attempt to lay the foundations for a better understanding of the people of his country with a statement of the past sociological history.

Found Organized People

When the Spaniards came to our part of North America they found a completely organized people dominating all of Mexico and Guatemala and part of the United States. They were greatly advanced scientifically with a better calendar system than that in use in Europe at the time. Montezuma, the ruler, had a system of runners relaying every 400 yards that brought him fresh fish from the ocean every day in eight hours over a grade that even today requires electrified railways 12 hours to accomplish. The Aztecs came from the north and at the command of their gods built their city, which now is Mexico City, on an island in the center of a lake located on a great plateau 9000 feet above sea level.

The conditions met by the Spaniards were different from those faced by the pioneers in your part of the continent. The natives were too numerous and too highly organized to be controlled in any other fashion than mixing with them and that is what the Spaniards did. There now is a population of about 16,000,000 in Mexico, of which some 2,500,000 are white, 3,500,000 mixed and the rest pure Indians. There are two mountain chains in Mexico, following the coast on either side and running the length of the land. Between these ranges in the center part there is a desert at the north, very similar to yours, but farther south the land becomes very fertile and the plains are marvelous for cultivation. The country between the mountains and the sea also is very rich and the population has grouped in the fertile regions where the crops grow rapidly.

EXCHANGEITES LEND SUPPORT TO GLEE CLUB

The Santa Ana Exchange club today got behind the Glee club of the American Legion auxiliary here in its attempt to win the National Glee club championship and to bring the next national convention of the auxiliary to a meeting on September 26.

After the group of singers, under the direction of Cecil Fross Willits, had sung several numbers before the club in the Santa Ana club today, and had received enthusiastic applause, the club voted to appropriate $50 toward the expense of sending the club to the national convention in Louisville, Ky. The Glee club hopes to leave for the convention on September 26.

In making this appropriation the Exchange club, which is one of the smallest service organizations in the city, took first place for the size of its contribution.

Fred Forgy, Santa Ana attorney, addressed the club today on the "American Constitution." The program and the address by Forgy were a feature of the exchange club's observance of national Constitution week.

MEXICAN ROTARIAN AND HIS BRIDE MARVEL AT PARADISE CREATED HERE FROM DESERT

Senor Manuel Palavicini, of Mexico City, who addressed the Rotary club here, yesterday, stated in an interview before he left for Los Angeles, that he was combining the good will tour of Rotary clubs in Southern California with a wedding trip.

"We were married on August 24," he said, indicating his charming, dark-eyed bride, who was dressed in gray with a soft gray hat trimmed with a scarf that hung over her right shoulder, "and left on this trip on August 28. My wife marvels at the paradise that you Californians have created from the desert. As we came across the desert she was unable to understand how anything so beautiful could be here. She is very happy and we are both enjoying this visit in America very much.

Senor Palavicini is an attorney and newspaper publisher in the Mexican capital city. He was a professor of the philosophy of law for one year, in 1926, in the National University of Mexico, following his graduation from that institution in 1925. He studied in the United States in 1915, and was a student in Rutgers in 1917 and 1918, where he studied literature.

WHAT IT MEANS TO BE PRESIDENT

By Calvin Coolidge

Article I

PRESIDENCY PRIMARILY AN EXECUTIVE OFFICE. HAS POWER MORE VAST IN ITS IMPLICATIONS THAN ANY RULING SOVEREIGN.

As I recall the mounting events of the years I spent in Washington I appreciate how impossible it is to convey an adequate realization of the office of president. A few short paragraphs in the constitution of the United States describe all his fundamental duties. Various laws passed over a period of nearly a century and a half have supplemented his authority. All of his actions can be analyzed. All of his goings and comings can be recited. The details of his daily life can be made known. The effect of his policies on his own country and on the world at large can be estimated. His methods of work, his associates, his place of abode, can all be described. But the relationship created by all these and more, which constitute the magnitude of the office, does not yield to definition. Like the glory of a morning sunrise, it can only be experienced — it cannot be told.

In the discharge of the duties of the office there is one rule of action more important than all others. It constitutes in never doing anything that someone else can do for you. Like many other good rules, it is proven by its exceptions. But it indicates a course that should be very strictly followed in order to prevent being so entirely devoted to trifling details that there will be little opportunity to give the necessary consideration to policies of larger importance.

Executive Office

Like some other rules, this one has an important corollary which must be carefully observed in order to secure success. It is not sufficient to entrust details to someone else. They must be entrusted to someone who is competent. The presidency is primarily an executive office. It is placed at the apex of our system of government. It is a place of last resort to which all questions are brought that others have not been able to answer. The ideal way for it to function is to assign to the various positions men of sufficient ability so that they can solve all the problems that arise under their jurisdiction. If there is a troublesome situation in Nicaragua, a General McCoy can manage it. If we have dif-

EXPECT HEAVY
HARBOR SCHOOL
ELECTION VOTE

NEXT BEACH, Sept. 11.—The Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce, the Newport Beach Exchange club and other harbor district organizations are preparing to put out a big vote for the high school district election, to be held in the Newport Beach and Costa Mesa grammar schools Saturday, September 21. The election will decide whether or not the voters of the district favor a harbor high school district.

Harry Estus has been appointed chairman of a "get-out-the-vote" committee for the chamber of commerce and W. L. Jordan for the Exchange club. A campaign also will be made to register every eligible voter for the harbor bond election which the city council may call soon.

As the Newport Beach and Costa Mesa districts will continue to pay high school taxes to the Santa Ana high school district for the present fiscal year, students residing here will be able to attend the Santa Ana school this school year without paying tuition fees, just as at present. Should the vote on September 21 be favorable, it is expected that a harbor high school will be built before the 1930-31 school year begins. If the harbor district will draw from Santa Ana it will pay no more taxes to that district after the present school year.

The season's most exclusive colorings

THIS mode of the hour is of course consulted in the selection of new colorings by Pierce-Arrow. But there is an artistry employed in the process which is rare among automobiles.

The blending of certain shades and tones...the choice of fine fabrics to match...the development of combinations which exclude the commonplace...the harmonizing of interiors with exteriors. All are the concern of artists who are masters of decoration and guardians, as well, of the tradition that is Pierce-Arrow.

The result is a quality that sets this distinguished line apart. Also there is a definite limit to the number of Pierce-Arrows possible of creation each season—governed by certain fine processes of manufacture. And so today's exhibit of the new Pierce-Arrow colorings is one to be attended without delay.

Parents Announce Date Of Daughter's Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Umberham of 509 South Garnsey street have just announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Helen Irene Umberham, and Milton Foster, son of Mrs. C. E. Jackson of 719 West Fourth street, which took place at La Jolla Sept. 7.

The ceremony was read by the Rev. Mr. Knight, pastor of the First Congregational church in that city, at his home and was very simple. The bride wore a pretty blue ensemble with lovely fur and other accessories in tones of brown and she was unattended.

Following their wedding, the two young people enjoyed a short honeymoon in San Diego and Lower California before returning to this city. At present they are making their home at Jackson courts.

Mr. Foster came to this city in 1910 and he attended the local schools. After his graduation from the high school in 1917 he was a violinist in the Yost Spurgeon theater for a number of years. For the past six years he has been connected with the Foster-Barker music company.

His wife came to Santa Ana 11 years ago from Chicago and she also is a graduate of Santa Ana high school. For the past three years she has been employed at the Southern Counties Gas company.

Pioneer Meeting Held At First Baptist Church

Many of Santa Ana's oldest residents were present last night at the pioneer meeting held at the First Baptist church under the auspices of that church, honoring Mrs. Margaret Spurgeon, wife of the late W. H. Spurgeon, founder of the city.

Mrs. Spurgeon has lived in Santa Ana 60 years, coming here as a girl with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert English, who were among the first residents of this place. Her husband had already come to Santa Ana and was the owner of a small store when she met him. Later he subdivided the land and founded Santa Ana.

Guests at the meeting who have lived in Santa Ana for 50 years included Wylie Harris, Frank Harris, Mrs. Mary Beard, Mrs. John Hickey, Mrs. R. J. Blee, E. P. Stafford, and Mrs. Emma French.

After Mrs. Spurgeon, who is called "the mother of Santa Ana" had been presented with a basket of beautiful flowers on behalf of the assembled guests, the devotionals were led by A. R. Marshall and the prayer was offered by Dr. William Ashmore.

An interesting history of the Baptist church, the oldest in the city, was read by Mrs. O. S. Catland who is herself a pioneer Santa Anaan.

Talks having to do with early happenings in this city were made by W. C. Jerome, Mrs. R. J. Blee, Wylie Harris, E. P. Stafford and Don Halladay. Mrs. Warren Brakeman read a paper written by Mrs. C. R. Smith for the occasion in which were a number of amusing incidents that took place in the early days of the city.

Adding a delightful note to the program were the personal experiences related by Mrs. Emma French, and Mrs. Lotta Goward.

A. M. Robinson presented most of the evening's speakers but Mac O. Robbins who has spent all of his life in Santa Ana, introduced Mrs. Spurgeon and Mr. Jerome. The program was concluded with an appropriate talk by the Rev. Harry Evan Owings, pastor of the church. The closing prayer was offered by R. Fred Chambers, assistant pastor.

Farewell Party Takes Place in Lovely Garden

Miss Helen Stein, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Stein of 1030 West Sixth street, was hostess to a group of her friends at a bridge lawn party given last night in honor of Miss Willena Bell, who will leave September 16 for Pomona college, and Miss Enid Bowles, who plans to enter Scripps college this fall.

Gaily colored Japanese lanterns shed their flickering light on the five tables that were arranged among the flower beds of the garden for bridge. At the close of the evening's play, adding of scores found Miss Dorothy Cartwright high and she received a silk French doll. A small painted puppy consoled Miss Willena Bell, who held low score. The remainder of the evening was spent chatting concerning future plans of the guests for college, and music. Two sets of futuristic tea partitions in black and white china were presented the guests of honor.

Those who attended the farewell party were Miss Dorothy Cartwright, Miss Enid Bowles, Miss Willena Bell, Miss Grace Marcher, Miss Mary Helen Bell, Miss Phyllis O'Connor, Miss Marjorie Adams, Miss Adarath Ellis, Miss Arkansas, Miss Betty Maloney, Miss Maybelle Bell, Miss Dorothy Bourne, Miss Wilma Patterson, Miss Emma Tannenbaum, Miss Margaret Wilson, Miss Marian Parsons, Miss Carnelle Swain and Miss Ethel Ellis.

Birthday Anniversary Occasion for Surprise

The birthday anniversary of Mrs. George Lentz of East Tenth street was the occasion for a merry surprise party that took place at her home last night. The group gathered there early in the evening, bringing with them a beautiful birthday cake that was served following a number of happy games.

Those enjoying the affair were Mrs. George Lentz, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Preble, Miss Dorothy Preble, Sammy Preble, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Lentz, Miss Margaret Lentz, Donald Lentz of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Lentz of Pasadena.

Does Youth Want the Moon

SOMETIMES I THINK YES,
BUT SOMETIMES I THINK NO
By Velva G. Darling

Reports continue to come in that modern youth is "sophisticated," "cynical," wearied of life before it has started to live it. The pleasures which satisfied pa when he was a boy, the girlish pastimes, romantic dreams and fluffy dresses which kept mother happy, are dismissed with an impatient shrug by the children. If the family doesn't own a car, the children cannot be happy until they have one. Then, when they have one, it is simply preposterous to think of trying to get along without TWO. If you send them to college, their eyes are filled with longing to have gone to school in Paris. If you DON'T send them to college, it is THAT that they spend their time wanting. What they have, they don't want—and they only want, what they haven't got.

Yet, on the other hand, the Chinese have a saying that you shouldn't wish for things which, if granted, will leave you unhappy than you were before. The world, today, belongs to Youth. The world was what Youth wanted, and Youth got it! And, now that we have what we have been crying for, we find that it isn't at all what we expected. We have eaten our dinner, and we aren't hungry! Who—you scientists listen—who can diagnose our case and tell us what is wrong? We have no appetite after eating our fill! We have the moon, and we are getting tired of having it around all the time. We don't want ANYTHING. We've got the Raspberry Blues!

Sometimes I think what modern youth wants, and doesn't know it, is oppression, maltreatment and, if you will pardon the crude language, a good, swift kick! But, on the other hand, the measure of greatness always has been, and always will be, the measure of man's desire. How easily satisfied and satiated are you. If you have everything, and are still able to keep on wanting the moon, you have the makings of greatness in you. And WANTING things is the BEST THING American Youth does!

it gives great pleasure to those women who are actually rolling and stretching on the floor or interpreting music in their own way.

These women are not vain. They do not expect to become dancers or they do not expect to put Marilyn Miller out of business. They are trying to get back what they should never have lost—limberness, agility and joy in physical activity. They are salvaging what they can from the years in which they neglected their bodies in their struggle to get on in the world. And they are doing marvels for their health, and getting kinks out of their minds as well as their muscles.

NATURAL ACROBATS

A little girl, 11 years, amazed the professional dancing teachers at their recent convention. She had never appeared in public, though she had been doing acrobatic dancing since she was a mere infant.

Children are natural acrobats, and they should be encouraged to stretch their slim little bodies, in natural play, and to get the satisfaction and thrill that comes from controlling their muscles and making them obey their minds.

One of the most successful dancing teachers in New York, who teaches control of the body, and considerably more than just steps, has one class devoted to older women—most of them business women. Most of them have completely forgotten how to do the simplest gymnastics which they did perfectly naturally as children.

DEMANDS COST OF INSTALLING POWER ENGINE

ANAHEIM, Sept. 11.—Demanding that the cost of installing the generator at the Anaheim municipal power house be made public, E. E. Long, weekly publisher, created a furore at the regular meeting of the city council last night.

Long's demand followed a question put fellow council members by Councilman Jacob Lakeman as to whether or not the city's books were open to the inspection of the public. Lakeman declared that he had been asked to put the question to the council by several residents of the city.

Resume Work On Beach Wildcat Well

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 11.—The Featherstone and Preston well on the Newland-Borchard 60 acres on the bluff just east of the city limits has resumed operations after standing idle for several months. The well was closed down for refinancing when the bottom of the hole was at 3250. It is the intention of the operators to drill to 6500 feet unless production is found at a shallower depth.

The lease will test a section of the east side that has never been drilled. The location lies on a direct line between the west end town lot zone and the Standard Oil surf wells.

Fraser, an employee of the Macco Construction company, which is building the Southern Counties Gas company system here, suffered third and second degree burns. He was rushed to the hospital where Dr. Garnet B. Grant treated him. Early yesterday it appeared as if Fraser was on the road to recovery but a relapse set in.

No responsibility for death was fixed at the inquiry conducted yesterday.

STREET LIGHT BIDS ASKED AT SAN CLEMENTE

SAN CLEMENTE, Sept. 11.—Bids for the erection of two miles of ornamental lights on San Clemente streets have been asked by Ole Hanson through his engineer, W. A. Ayer. It is estimated that the cost of installation will be around $15,000. Bids will be opened on Friday in Ayer's office in the Oscar Easley block.

Lights, of the same type as used around the plaza will be erected, bids calling for installation of 64 posts. The lights will be erected on Esplandade at the highway going down that street to the ocean, taking in the 10-acre tract which has been graded as a hotel site. Lights will be erected on Esplandade to Paseo de Cristobal and thence on Avenida Valencia and back to the highway.

Streets on which the lights will be erected contain bridle trails. Esplandade is that street which joins the state highway at the south corner of ground now occupied by the San Clemente hospital. Valencia joins the highway at Camino five blocks south of the hospital.

Councilman Lakeman stated that any citizen had a right to know the cost of installing the engine. Councilman William Grafton told Long that he had wilfully misstated the cost in his paper. Long answered that if he had done so it was because he had not been given figures.

In answer to a question put by the mayor as to his object in wishing to obtain the figures, Long said

TO MAKE THE MOST OF TOMATOES

Try This New Recipe by a Famous Woman Cooking Expert

Cut tomatoes in halves—as many as you wish to bake. Arrange on a greased pie plate. Sprinkle each tomato with minced onion, salt and pepper. Dot with butter and sprinkle with sugar. Bake in a hot oven (450° F.) about 15 minutes, until brown on top.

Notice the "sprinkle with sugar." It has been rediscovered that a dash of sugar is the secret of delicious vegetable cookery. This old secret was lost until four cooking experts rediscovered it recently. Cook vegetables in little water and add a dash of sugar while they are cooking. It does not make the vegetables taste sweet. But it makes them taste better than any vegetable foods you probably have ever tasted. A dash of sugar develops and builds up the delicate enjoyable vegetable flavors. The results will surprise you.

See that the children and adults in your family eat enough milk, vegetables and fruits. These are rated by scientists as the three basic foods. Use a little sugar to make delicious milk desserts, and milk drinks such as milk shake and egg-nog. Sprinkle sugar on corn flakes. Use sugar in stewed fruits. Convince yourself now of the wonders of sugar in cooking vegetables.

Hundreds of thousands of children—many doubtless in prosperous families—are suffering from under-nourishment. Use sugar flavor to promote enjoyable, healthful eating. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.—Adv.

that several taxpayers wanted to know. He intimated that he might take the matter to court.

Councilman Grafton said that nothing was under cover and that city officials had nothing to conceal.

"There is a reason for the good of everyone why the figures should not be given out, owing to matter now in court," he said. Parties who have no right to the information are now seeking it and for the protection of the citizens of Anaheim, the figures should not be given out at the present time."

City Manager Price declared that figures would be given out when the engine was accepted. Councilman Fred Kossel told Long that there was danger in giving out the figures at the present time without complete understanding.

In the course of his talk Long brought up the matter of the city park theater, which he declared had cost a much greater sum of money than the sum which the public had been told was expended on it.

The engine in question, Price stated, had not been accepted by the city. It was installed about a year ago and has just started on a steady run, he declared.

MAN BURNED IN EXPLOSION OF OIL CAN DIES

SAN CLEMENTE, Sept. 11.—Borden Fraser, 25, of Los Angeles, passed away at the San Clemente hospital yesterday from burns received Sunday afternoon, when an oil can with which he was filling warning lights, exploded.

The body is at the Roy Divel funeral chapel and will be sent to Los Angeles today for interment. He is survived by his widow and five-year-old daughter, Vera, and his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Fraser, of Los Angeles.

WELCOME NEW PUPILS WHEN COLLEGE OPENS

FULLERTON, Sept. 11.—Marking the opening of the fall term of the Fullerton Junior college, a special assembly was held yesterday in the school auditorium for the purpose of welcoming new students in the school life. Dean W. T. Boyce was in charge.

Following the opening of the assembly with the singing of "America," Dean Boyce gave a special welcome to the strangers who were attending the campus for the first time. He then introduced the speakers representing different groups. They were Louis E. Plummer, principal of the high school and junior college, who represented the faculty and stated that it was the aim of the teachers to reach every student and gain his friendship; S. C. Hartman, speaking for the board of trustees; Mayor Bert Annin, representing the city; Harry May, secretary of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce, who reminded students of their responsibilities and opportunities and what the world expected of them; Bill Massey, president of the junior college student body, who spoke for the old students in welcoming the new members of the student body, and the Rev. Graham C. Hunter, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who gave the annual opening college year address.

The Rev. Mr. Hunter stated that it was his wish that more students would go out into the world for the purpose of serving rather than solely to see how much money they could get from the world. He gave instances of men who spent their whole lives in an effort to serve their fellow man.

The bid of the American Cast Iron Pipe company to furnish the city with pipe in the work on the water system now underway was accepted. Following the reading of a letter from Councilman A. W. Franzen, who is in Arizona, he was granted a 90-day leave of absence.

A recommendation submitted by the city planning commission in which the district between La-

The treasurer's report showed $84,411.14 in the general fund and cash on hand of $11,914.72. The report of Police Judge Eldon W. Stark showed $1282 collected in fines during the past month. The report of Chief of Police J. S. Bouldin showed total arrests to have been 35. A total of $1232.50 was collected in city licenses.

CHAPTER IX
"You are," Brent said tensely, "an heiress, Helen."

"An heiress!" Helen was bewildered. If Brent had lost his money... Suddenly she laughed. He had money for her, of course. Her own money in some way. And he had lost much of his fortune. A wave of gladness swept over her, filled her eyes with a shining light.

Things hadn't changed for them after all. She would simply give her money to Leonard. She tried to tell him this, in words that came with a rush.

"You needn't have told me anything," she cried. "Everything could have been just as it was. About the money, I mean. Of course I want to know about my parents, but I've always hoped..." She stopped, the new experience of letting her thoughts run to words falling short of carrying her through.

And, too, it had come to her suddenly that she might be revealing too much of her feeling for her guardian. He had not yet asked her for her love, she reminded herself.

Brent did not let a silence fall upon them. "I'm afraid you don't understand, Helen," he said, making an effort to be patient. "You will not be able to obtain your money unless I tell you your story. Even then you may not get it. Personally I rather hope you won't, because I'd still like you to regard me as being necessary to you."

"Necessary?" Helen said it blankly.

The accent secretly elated Brent.

He understood it perfectly, but that Helen considered the word not half strong enough.

"Yes," he said. "I can't flatter myself that any other ideas I might have could come to anything."

Helen smiled. "Then tell me," she said, "the rest of the story. Whose money will I inherit, my father's? My mother's?"

"Neither," Brent answered briefly. "Your grandfather's."

"My grandfather! Have I a grandfather living?"

"You surely have."

Helen caught his arm. "Why didn't you tell me?" she pleaded.

Brent was ready with his answer.

"I'd not be telling you now," he said, "if I hadn't promised your father that I would do it when you were grown."

"Tell me about my father, and my mother," Helen urged.

"I never knew your mother," Brent replied. "Your father, of course you know, was one of my closest friends. But I hadn't seen him for several years before your birth—not until I went down to Mexico at his dying request to take you under my care."

"And my mother?" Helen pressed. "Where was she?"

"She had died a year before."

"In Mexico?"

"Yes."

Helen was thoughtful for a moment, thinking of that year her father was alone.

"I wonder why he didn't bring me back to the United States," she exclaimed finally.

"For the same reason that he took your mother out of this country," Brent told her.

"Can you tell me that?" Helen said, half afraid that still some of the story would be withheld from her.

"I mean to tell you everything," Brent declared. "Just listen, dear. Remember one night several weeks ago when I came up to see you at school and we dined at the inn? You said then that you weren't even sure that your name was Helen Page." He paused, to give weight to his next words. Helen remained silent.

"Well," he said slowly. "It isn't. You aren't Helen Page. Only your middle name is Helen. Your father took the name of Page so that your grandfather—your mother's father—would find it more difficult to locate him and your mother."

"Why?" Helen cried.

"Because your grandfather is an old tartar, my dear girl, and your father had incurred his wrath by marrying your mother. You see he wasn't a wealthy man, poor Charles; luck always went against him. And your mother was the only child of very rich man."

Brent was sure of his last statement. Further investigation following his trip to Yonkers had reveal-this to be true. He had no hesitation in declaring it.

"Charles," Helen whispered. "That is my father's name?"

"Yes, Charles Nellin." He considered it wise to avoid mentioning the name Owens. There might be a chance that Cunningham did not know that it was Nellin's. He didn't want Helen using it when she went to her grandfather.

"And the rest of it?" she demanded. "What is my name, Leonard?"

"Your name is Evangeline Helen

Cunningham. I have always called

Helen because I preferred it to Evangeline. You were named for your mother."

Helen breathed it after him. She told herself she had never heard a

"And my mother? Did she go back?"

"Never. But Charles feared that she might, and it was this fear that drove him to Mexico. Your grandfather is guilty of having ruined his life. He made a vagabond of him. But your mother had more cause for bitterness. Her father refused her one and only appeal for aid—refused it cruelly. It was made for your sake, Helen, and it broke your mother's heart to know that you were to be left behind her in poverty. The letter she received from her father hastened her death."

"Oh my poor mother," Helen moaned.

"That is why I have no kind feeling for Cyril Cunningham," Brent commented acidily.

"I hate him!" Helen exclaimed. "I never want to see him."

Brent waited a moment for her agitation to pass. "I'm afraid we can't either of us make that possibility," he said earnestly, "unless we

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, COUNTY OF ORANGE:

Odilon Rivera, being first duly sworn, deposes and says:

That in February, 1929, I was arrested for the possession of intoxicating liquor, and confined in the County Jail. That I retained Mr. Morris Cain for an attorney.

After I was in jail two or three days, Mr. Charles E. Carrillo, the court interpreter and a deputy sheriff came in to see me upon several different occasions for the purpose of trying to get me to plead guilty to the charges, but upon advice of my attorney, I refused to plead guilty.

That I am informed, and believe and therefore state, that at said time the liquor which was the evidence in my case, had been poured out by mistake by the sheriff's office, and that all evidence had been destroyed. And at the time said Carrillo asked me to plead guilty and at all times hereinafter mentioned, said Carrillo knew that said evidence had been destroyed and that there was no evidence in existence to use against me at the trial, and that if I did not plead guilty said case would have to be dismissed for lack of evidence.

That not being able to get me to plead guilty, he then got in touch with my brother and friends who had been raising money for attorney fees in my defense and informed them, so I am informed and believe and therefore state, that he could fix the matter up and get the case dismissed, but that he would charge them a fee of $100.00 (One hundred dollars) for his services.

That my brother relied upon what he said, and gave the money to my sister-in-law who paid said Carrillo fifty dollars ($50.00) which he had already raised and promised to pay the other fifty dollars later. That I had sent an order to my brother to pay this fifty dollars to my attorney, but Carrillo got there first.

At the time set for trial, the case was dismissed for lack of evidence both said Carrillo and my attorney being present at the said time.

I am informed and believe and therefore state that said Carrillo knew both at and before the time he made said charge of money ($50.00) that said case would have to be dismissed anyway, and that nothing that said Carrillo could do would make any difference one way or the other, because of the fact that the evidence had been destroyed.

That said Carrillo has asked me for the other fifty dollars ($50.00) upon three occasions, but that I do not intend to pay it.

MUTT AND JEFF—A Bean Like Jeff's is An Oddity in Africa

M. PALAVICINI IN APPEAL FOR FRIENDLINESS

cluded a god for every purpose, but the main one was the war god. They were a very fanatic people and every year made forays far to the south, where they would take captives from the Mayans for sacrifice to the war god. They took 10,000 prisoners for this purpose every year. After the Spaniards converted them to Christianity they carried with them the fanaticism and you will find that they are intensely Catholic. The official language is Spanish, but there are a great many dialects.

Well Developed in 1910

In 1910, Mexico was a well developed country, with beautiful cities, roads, dams, railroads and industrial plants. She had been independent for 100 years. She had been first in silver production for many years and had great oil possibilities. Mexico is very rich in resources. All this gave an appearance of well being, but there was a great problem to be solved. All the riches were in the hands of some 300,000 people and the balance of the population was poor and ignorant. The lower classes were only beasts of burden. The Madero revolution was for the purpose of giving this class opportunities and to teach them. Our revolutions have been steps that were necessary to give the people what they should have.

The people lived on 17 cents a day and were kept down and bound by debts. The entire state of Chihuahua, which is as large as Texas, was owned by one family, which lived in Mexico City and spent much time traveling abroad.

"If a worker on a ranch needed some money he had to come to the owner and tell him what it was for, then if the owner decided he should have it, it was accounted for as follows: 'You ask me for a peso, you owe me a peso, here is a peso give you, that makes three pesos—sign your name here.' That sort of thing was the reason all the debts of the working people were declared cancelled after the revolution.

"Along the same line of establishing equity was the order returning the land to the natives after the revolution. It originally had belonged to them and the Spanish king had given it to his followers. Thus the land law restored that which had been taken away and was another step in giving the great mass of poor people a chance.

"Our labor laws, which many say are Bolshevik, provide that an employer cannot deprive a man of work and discharge him on a whim or mood or because he does not like the fellow unless he pays him a compensation when there is no just cause for discharge. The labor code now is being discussed in the senate and both labor and capital are seeking to have it repealed, saying that it does not sufficiently protect their interests.

Education Big Problem

"Education is the main problem that we face. We now have more than 18,000 schools that teach only how to read and write, as there are 10,000,000 illiterates and some 4,000,000 who cannot speak Spanish. We have grammar schools, high schools, vocational and agricultural schools and universities. The National University of Mexico, in Mexico City, was the first one established in North America, and the first book printed on this continent was printed in a building next to the university.

"We have given the people land to work on and have provided protection for the industrial class. But we have not overlooked the other side of life and also are developing the arts. Great progress is being made in music, painting, architecture, oratory and literature."

Senor Palavicini, who was introduced yesterday by W. H. Spurgeon, chairman of the committee on international relations, closed his address with the prophecy that there would be more and more friendly relations between the people of Mexico and the United States as they learned to know each other better. "After all," he said, "what we are looking for is happiness. And what is happiness but peace, or an equilibrium of affairs? The Hindu, the German, the Spanish, the Chinese may have a different key to it all. The bottom of the heart of a catastrophe should overtake any one of the peoples of the earth, just notice the reaction of all the others. They will fly to help regardless of race, religion or other differences. Humanity stands by in the face of natural forces and I look for the day when it will do so in the face of social forces, when there will be this expression of human feeling without the touchstone of a calamity. The moves of friendship that are being made by all nations are very interesting and I feel that this is especially true of neighbors—your country and mine."

Prior to the address of Senor Palavicini the club was entertained by a group of songs by the American Legion Auxiliary Glee club and several Spanish solos by Albert Delgado, who was accompanied by Alan Revill.

EVENING SALUTATION

"Management today has become a science the same as law and medicine. Responsibility must be distributed all along the line, and services properly compensated."

—W. T. Holliday, president Standard Oil Company of Ohio.

WHAT IS BEHIND IT?

Yesterday there was presented to the Board of Supervisors a complaint against the official interpreter employed by the Board. This complaint contained seven serious charges which have been published. Affidavits supporting these charges were also filed. The Board referred the complaint to the District Attorney and voted to notify Mr. Carrillo that the charges were filed.

An investigation was asked for by the complainant, and it was suggested that the least that could be done was to suspend Carrillo pending the investigation.

No investigation has been ordered, and it is to be presumed that the notification committee from the Board of Supervisors will call upon Carrillo at his convenience and tell him about it.

What did Carrillo do according to the evidence presented? It would look as if he posed to his less fortunate compatriots as prosecutor, judge, jailer and even as minister plenipotentiary and envoy extraordinary in the matter of passports from Mexico. All this was done for a price, fixed by Carrillo. Under his official connections with the court, he evidently was the great Pooh Bah and without his aid, for a fee, a Mexican could not see his relative in the County jail.

Sufficient evidence was before the Board to show that this man has intimidated and extorted money from bewildered Mexicans under cover of his office as interpreter. He is an employee of the Board.

When the supporting affidavits were read by the Board, the members went into a huddle in a private room from which the public and news-paperners were excluded. Why was this star chamber session necessary? What is there in the relations of the Board to their employee that needed secret conference?

The Board emerged from the room and at once passed the motion to notify the interpreter that a complaint had been filed. This action was taken without any public discussion and with no reason given.

Some time before next Tuesday they will notify him that charges have been preferred against him. There is no order to show cause why he should not be discharged, there is no investigation ordered, he is to be notified.

It leads one to wonder how far the power and influence of Carrillo extends. What has he got on the Board of Supervisors that he should receive only a slap on the wrist and with upraised finger the Board should say, "Naughty, naughty?"

The opportunity for petty graft which Carrillo has is no doubt prolific when used as Carrillo evidently used it. He was the real representative of the law so far as a great many of his victims are concerned. They would pay for protection and relief which he was supposed to give them. He could get them out of jail. He could get cases dismissed. He could get people from Mexico into the United States even if they could not write their names. All these things and more he could do for a fee. Always the fee is in evidence.

The ridiculously futile action of the Board of Supervisors under the circumstances would indicate something. What is it? Is the Board in turn protecting Carrillo? If so, why?

There was not a single member of the Board who would even make a motion for anything except to "pass the buck" to the District Attorney or to notify Carrillo. There was no member of the Board who seemed to care whether the poor Mexican was exploited or not. If there was any sympathy it was for their employee.

So they will notify him that his petty graft is discovered. He no doubt will be surprised when he finds it out, and probably will ask: "Well, what are you going to do about it?" The interpreter is the Board's hired man and the Board are servants of all the people. Who is behind Carrillo? "Upon what meat does this our Caesar feed that he hath grown so great?"

The people of this county, as all true Americans, believe in even-handed justice to the poor and ignorant as well as to the rich and wise. Because a man is ignorant of court ways is no reason he should be compelled to pay a go-between before he may exercise his right to see a prisoner in the county jail.

Carrillo is still interpreter and will be notified.

She's a clever girl who can remember to call her regular fellow by his right name when she returns from vacation.

TALK ABOUT SPEED!

Squadron Leader A. H. Orlebar, captain of the British Schneider cup team, set a speed record for airplanes of 355.8 miles per hour yesterday. His highest speed was at the rate of 368.8 miles per hour. That would be a speed that would enable one to move from Santa Ana to Anaheim in slightly over sixty seconds of time.

This is almost a complete annihilation of space and time. The story of the machine that would take you back in time as well as in space, was quite fantastic, but at any rate this speed would almost keep pace with the sun, as it passes through the heavens at the point of our latitude.

We wonder sometimes whether there is such a need for hurrying. Maybe we ought to stop experimenting in speed until we have a little more reason to use it!

"LET THERE BE LIGHT"

Yesterday when the affidavits that are appearing in today's paper concerning the Court Interpreter, Charles Carrillo, were presented, together with a letter requesting that Carrillo be suspended so that the fear which is upon the poor Mexicans of the county should no longer prevail, while investigations were being had, possibly, the Board of Supervisors went into secret conference. They held an "executive" session. They got into a huddle.

These servants of the people of the county, confronted with a plain, frank and open duty, had to go behind closed doors, concealing whatever was being said from the newspapers and the public. Everything concerning the affidavits and the letter was open and aboveboard. It was exposed to the full light of day. It was no stranger in question, neither was it dealing with matters that had not received more or less publicity.

Why this secretiveness? Why must the servants conceal things from the principals, who are the citizens of the county? Where did this idea of a star chamber session come from anyway? Is there anything connected with this that they don't want the public to know? If there is, we opinion that is the very thing that the public should know. Has it reached the point where, when facts are brought out concerning an official, that there is a union of the officials, and they determine that they must get together regardless?

Would this have been done if, instead of the actions being taken upon poor Mexicans, they had been taken upon white, American people? Imagine it! Would they have done this if the charge had been made in relation to British subjects instead of some of them being Mexican subjects?

We want to say that if any citizen of Santa Ana or Orange county, however humble, charges undue influence or the extracting of money by the usurpation of any power by an employee of the paper, that we will not continue that man in position where he can repeat the performance for one solitary moment. In the interest of the common good, we would either have him instantly confront the facts or suspend him pending the investigation of the facts.

We have no interest in this other than the interest of justice on behalf of all the people. We are opposed to the sessions of any body of public officials which prevent the public knowing the facts which relate to their doings and the reasons for their doings. The people are the principals. The officers are their servants, and the principals have a right to know what their servants are doing, and why they are doing it.

INVITATIONS ISSUED FOR TRUMBULL-COOLIDGE WEDDING

Four hundred invitations have been sent out for the wedding of Miss Florence Trumbull to John Coolidge, which takes place on the 23rd of this month.

We wonder if there is any significance in its being 400. Undoubtedly it will be the "400, whoever they are. We wonder if the vice president will be there. If he is, will Mrs. Gann be along, and if so, in what order will they congratulate the groom?

BRITAIN GETS ROAD CONTRACT

One cannot help experiencing satisfaction on reading that Great Britain has received a huge roadbuilding contract from the Argentine government.

The contract amounts to $84,000,000 in American currency. It will help British labor, and the industrial situation in Great Britain needs aid.

Something Ought to Be Done About This

—San Francisco Chronicle—

Announcing the program of a national civic organization formed in the East, the promoters say it will carry out the principles of Washington, Jefferson and the founders of the United States, Blaine, Garfield, McKinley, Roosevelt, Sherman, Medill, Stanton, Chase and the fathers of the Republican party.

This policy, they say, "will reduce the cost of sugar to consumers by half, reduce living expenses, insure permanent world peace and reduce taxes and promote friendship with all America."

This program will make a good start for a live, active organization. When the first little tasks are done it can turn attention to enforcing prohibition to the satisfaction of both drys and wet, induce the supervisors to solve the garbage problem, make cigarette lighters light, give radios ample volume and make them inaudible to the neighbors and revise the laws so as to insure equal rights to all and special privileges to none, or special privileges to all and equal rights to none, as the case may be.

As a name for the organization we suggest the Optimists' club.

Jobs For the Indian

Riverside Daily Press

Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur seems to be an official with a good deal of common sense.

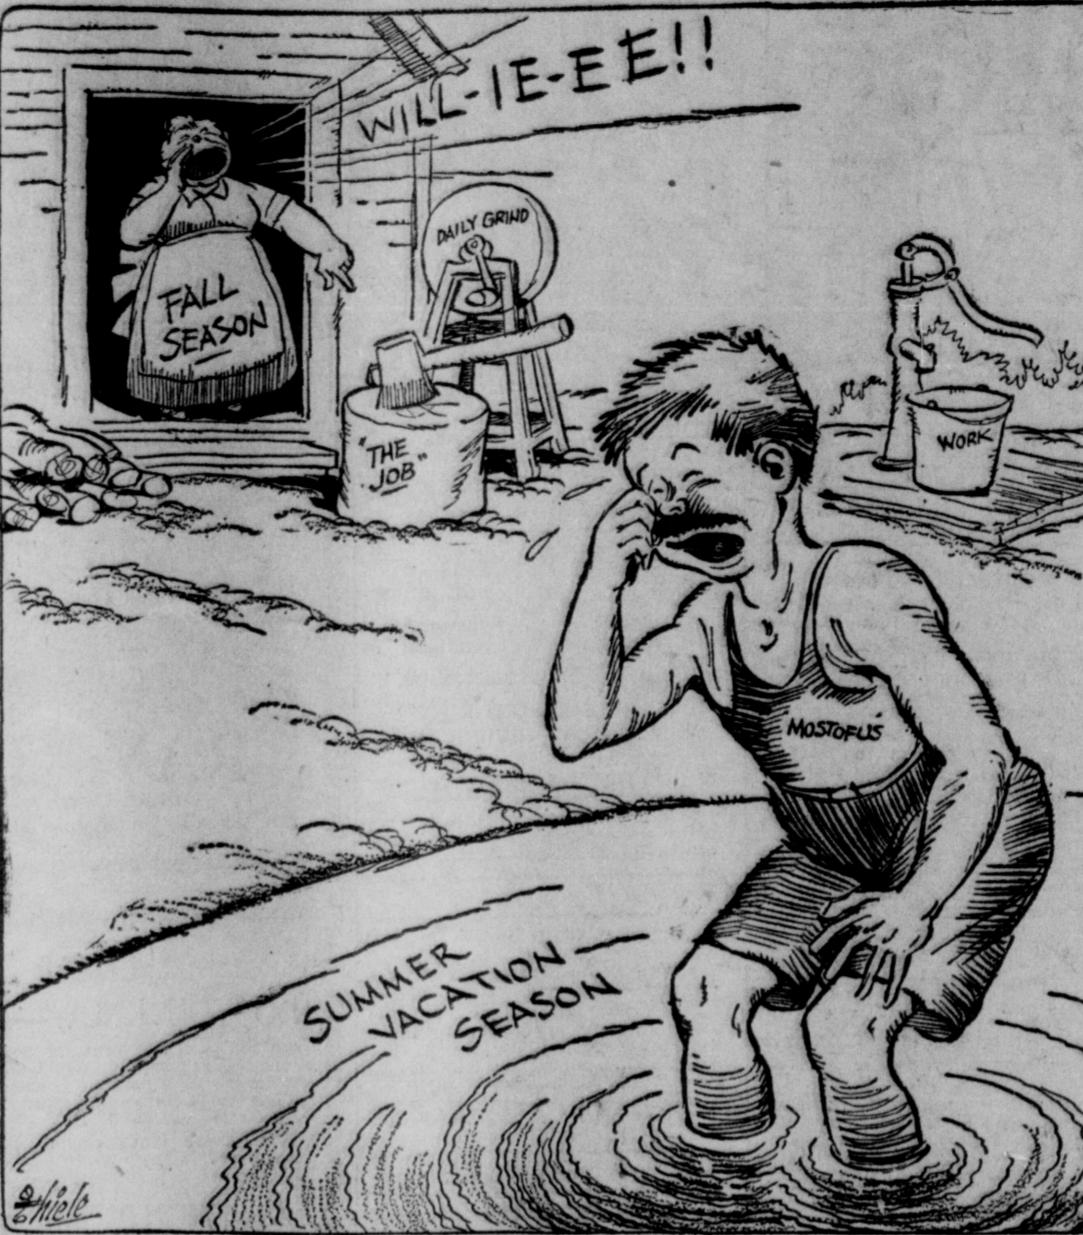

When he took office, he found one of his major problems presented by the half million Indian wards of the government. Most of them, living on reservations, suffer greatly from sickness. Infant death rates are far higher among them than among whites; the tuberculosis rate is appalling, and doctors seemed unable to find a solution.

Secretary Wilbur, investigating, found that the Indian's great need was simply a job. Most reservation Indians are idle. Being idle, they never have enough money; hence they go hungry from birth to death, and because of their chronic undernourishment are easily susceptible to disease.

So now Mr. Wilbur is going to remedy matters by providing jobs for them. They are good workers, and the southwest needs labor so badly that it has imported 500,000 Mexican workers in the last decade. Mr. Wilbur believes that by hitching the idle Indians to these jobs he will go far toward solving the "Indian question."

It is marvelous what common sense can do to a supposedly knotty problem.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

THE CROWD AT WIT'S END

Humanity has always had a system of checks-and-balances in the mutual give and take between the individual and the group.

The individual has tried to correct the group.

The group has tried to check the individual.

The individual has been primarily interested in self-determination.

The group has been primarily interested in self-preservation.

The individual has stood for personal desires.

The group has stood for social standards.

The unchecked individual means anarchy.

The uncorrected group means tyranny by the crowd.

The individual is essentially radical.

The group is essentially reactionary.

Society is safest and sanest when group-standards are clear without being too crystallized, and when the individual feels both the right and the responsibility of freedom.

The most ominous fact of modern times is the way in which this ancient system of checks-and-balances is being shattered.

Never was the individual more fanatically devoted to self-determination.

Modern society needs to repair its system of checks-and-balances.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

MAKE IT UP

Many a school catastrophe has befallen a child because he was allowed to get behind in his work. Then he was suddenly called upon for it and of course could not produce it or the ghost of it.

"I didn't hand in that work."

"I know it. Didn't I tell you to make it up?"

Now that won't do. It isn't fair. It is characteristic of children to let things go by and tie a little tag to their fleeting tails, "This is to be made up later." Tail and tag pass beyond recall. It won't do at all.

When a child fails to hand in his work, when he fails to produce the results of study on time, give him a definite assignment, give him a definite date upon which to make good his failure, and see that he does it even if you have to lose the afternoon to do so. A teacher's day does not end with dismissal bell. Her duty does not end with the recitation bell and the pencilled record. It is part of her plain duty to see that no child is permitted to slip through a lesson without proper check up.

By the end of each school month there is a small group of pupils who show weaknesses here and there. One has not brought in his written work up to the standard. Another failed to get the point in an important phase of mathematical reasoning. Another has let the work slip over him without catching so much as a syllable here and there. Don't let these go with an admonition without proper check up.

And I quick range our doorbell and hurry up ran around to the back street, thinking, G, I better have a good excuse in case she don't think it funny, I better say I didn't know what time it was and nobody told me, aw heck that's a bum excuse. I'm always saying that one and it only makes her worse instead of better.

And I started to feel kind of nervous and perspire, and I opened the kitchen door and nobody was in there, and I went in the dining room slow and there wasn't even a litte in there, I'm thinking, G, did I climb over the wrong fence?

And I pushed the button and lit the light and it was our dining room all rite, only the table wasn't even set, me thinking, Good rite, what the dooce. And just then I saw a note at my place, saying on it, Dear Benny, I went downtown to meet your father and we are going to have dinner down there, and you'll find a nice warm supper in the oven all ready to eat and here is 10 cents to run around and get yourself ice cream, Love mother.

We thinking, G, herry. And I went and got Paul Peppy on the Rio Grand Volume 2 and put it against the sugar bowl and red it while I was eating my supper including the ice cream.

Being one of the best meals I ever had.

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY

JENNY LIND IN NEW YORK

Jenny Lind made her first concert stage appearance in New York on Sept. 11, 1850.

Seven thousand persons paid $30,000 to hear this celebrated singer, who was popularly known as "the Swedish nightingale."

After appearing in New York she made a tour of the United States for two years, which was as successful from the financial point of view as it was from the artistic.

Jenny Lind was born at Stockholm, of humble parentage. Her wonderful voice was first noticed by an actress, whose influence obtained her admittance, at the age of 9, to the Stockholm Conservatory of Music, where she became the pupil of Croelius and Berg.

At the conclusion of her American tour in 1852, she was married in Boston to Otto Goldschmidt, conductor of the Bach choir.

The famous singer was widely known for her generosity. Her voice was a soprano of bright, brilliant, thrilling and sympathetic brilliancy, her principal accomplishment being an unrivaled mastery of coloratura.

ONE OF THE WORST LIES OF ALL IS THE GOLF BALL THAT LANDS IN A NEWLY PLOUGHED FIELD.

In the Long Ago

From the Register Files
14 Years Ago Today

SEPT. 10, 1915

After ramming a surrey, an automobile driven by Will Cheney, bean grower, hurtled a ditch and buried its crank handle in a tree. None was injured.

A. G. Spalding, "father of baseball," died at his home at Point Loma, near San Diego, from a stroke of apoplexy.

Arthur Johnson was painfully injured when a vicious mule crushed his hoof in Johnson's cheek.

Secretary J. C. Metzgar of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce left for San Diego to assist with the Orange county exhibit while J. P. Smith spent a few days at the San Francisco exposition.

The San Joaquin Gun club installed a phone.

Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh and two daughters were welcomed to Santa Ana where they planned to make their home, coming here from Dunkee, Omaha.

HENPECK (truculently, to friend): I decided to have it out with my wife last night and find out once and for all who's boss in my house.

FRIEND: Well, who is?

HENPECK: She is!—Answers.
